THREAT OF WAR

Malaysia, Indonesia Gird Forces; New Race Riots

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Malaysia entered a state of emergency today to meet a threat of war with Indonesia and to combat new race riots in Singapore. Allied British and New Zealand units moved into battle positions.

The Malaysian government moves were matched in Jakarta by orders from President Sukarno to his Indonesian forces to "deploy their strength" throughout Indonesia to meet any possible attack.

It was the first time British and New Zealand battalions headed into action against Indonesian guerrillas on the mainland of Malaysia. British units have fought Indonesian guerrillas in Malaysia's Borneo states of Sarawak and Sabah, however.

A government spokesman said the British and New Zealand troops are being used to free two Malaysian battalions for duty in riot-torn Singapore.

A battalion of British Gurkha rifles was replacing Malaysian forces in the Labis area to battle about 30 Indonesian paratroopers who were reported to have landed Wednesday. The area is 105 miles southeast of Kuala Lumpur.

A battalion of the royal New Zealand infantry, already stationed in the southwestern coastal area of Malaya, moved into the Pontian area, scene of an Indonesian seaborne invasion Aug. 17.

The government spokesman said the Singapore administration had requested help from Malaysian federal troops because of renewed racial clashes between Malays and Chinese.

Police patrolled Singapore streets after bands of Malays and Chinese roamed the Geyland district, spreading destruction.

A curfew went into effect and the island state in the young Federation of Malaysia was declared to be in a "state of danger to public order."

The Malaysian Cabinet met in special session to give last-minute instruction to a high-level Malaysian delegation that heads Saturday for the United Nations and an emergency meeting of the U.N. Security Council.

The government hopes there can be a Security Council meeting by Tuesday to hear its charges that Indonesia is guilty of aggression.

Seven persons have been killed and 48 injured in racial distubances since Wednesday, Singapore Radio said today.

The Malaysian government charged that Indonesian agents were behind the latest outbreak.

With pledges of support from its Commonwealth partners, the government acted quickly after the reported landing of 20 Indonesian

NEWSROOM NOTES — Don't let dandruff get a "head start" on your scalp. The result could be a common, persistent and sometimes baldness-inducing skin disease known as seborrheic dermatitis.

In its mild forms, seborrheic dermatitis appears only as a flaking and scaling of the scalp—the common condition we all know as dandruff. As the disease progresses, however, red scaly patches appear on the scalp, forehead, across the bridge of the nose, and behind the ears. Occasionally an eruption of seborrheic dermatitis involving the face, neck and body occurs with such explosive suddenness that it is easily confused with some infectious condition such as measles or scarlet fever.

What causes this distressing and common skin disorder?

Although the exact cause is unknown, most authorities agree that it bears some relation to poor functioning of the oil glands of the skin. These glands — which are most abundant on the scalp, face and shoulders—often become clogged and inflammed in persons with excessively oily skins. In this devitalized condition, the oil glands form perfect traps for dirt and breeding grounds for bacteria and fungus.

Seborrheic dermatitis is considered a "first cousin" to acne—the pesty pimple problem that affects so many teen-agers. It also is frequently associated with the common skin condition called psoriasis.

Any medical problem which tends to slow the function of oil glands in the skin can aggravate seborrheic dermatitis. This includes slowed thyroid function, overweight, anemia and vitamin deficiencies. Smoking and alcoholic beverages also act as irritating factors in some cases.

As with most medical problems, an ounce of prevention in seborrheic dermatitis is well worth a pound of cure. If your skin and scalp tend to be oily, keep them scrupulously clean with frequent washing. Hair should be washed at least twice weekly using a bland, non-oily shampoo. The face should be washed at least twice a day with plain, non-fatty soap.

Once seborrheic dermatitis reaches the red, patchy stage, it usually requires medical attention to be kept under control. Among the agents used by your doctor to control this stubborn condition are medicated shampoos, ultra-violet light and X-rays, antiseptics, steroids and antibiotics applied either locally or taken internally.

Who's Listening?

When political candidates meet, they do what comes natural—they talk. Both Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner, left, and Charles Percy, right, did just that at the Du Quoin fairgrounds. Kerner is Democratic nominee to succeed himself; Percy is Republican nominee for Governor.

More Viet Nam Confusion; Resignations Are Accepted

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh announced today he has received and accepted the resignations of all Cabinet ministers and secretaries of state who are army officers, including his own. But he said all will stay on for the time being.

In other words, the rule of South Viet Nam was as confused as at any point in its history.

For the time being, Khanh said, the three-general triumvirate which was organized last week will continue to run the show under a new name—steering committee.

Asked about the announcement by government spokesmen earlier in the day that one of the triumvirate members, Lt. Gen. Tran Thien Khiem, had resigned, Khanh said:

"Gen. Khiem is still a member of the three-man steering committee, but he has resigned from his government post."

Khiem was defense minister and chief of the armed forces under Khanh. Presumably he will continue to occupy these posts for the time being along with all other ministers, but Khanh would not elaborate. He is the only Roman Catholic on the renamed triumvirate. The others are Buddhists.

Khiem had been quoted as saying he had "had enough of the Buddhists running the country." The Buddhists had called for him and some other top Vietnamese army officers to get out of the government.

Khanh said he himself will lead the nation for the next two critical months, but is prepared to step down and go back to the armed forces once democracy is established. He said he will create ministerial councils to set up a new government and to insure religious unity.

An aide to Khanh said he believed Khiem's move was an act of friendship to save Khanh from embarrassment. Khiem will remain in the army.

His decision left Premier Nguyen Khanh virtually isolated as head of the triumvirate formed a week ago when antigovernment demonstrations erupted. He now faces the delicate task of balancing Buddhist and Roman Catholic demands on the government.

Group Refuses To Eject Nazis

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities refused today to eject three Nazis from its hearings on visits to Cuba by U.S. students.

When the hearing convened, New York lawyer Ira Gollobin protested that American Nazi party leader George Lincoln Rockwell and two members of his organization were present in the room.

Gollobin was the attorney for Monroe B. Slater, 21, New York, the student witness who was attacked by a Nazi while testifying during Thursday's hearing.

"Don't start trouble," Chairman Richard Ichord, D-Mo., told Gollobin. "The chair is also informed that there are Communists in the room. I have no truck with Nazis or communists. The chair intends to have order."

Ichord, on opening today's hearing, made a statement deploring Thursday's disturbance.

He said he had considered closing the hearings to the public because it was difficult to keep out potential troublemakers.

But Ichard added, "the business of Congress is the people's business."

Rockwell and his two followers were seated in the rear of the large caucus room. Four policemen stood behind them.

Four U.S. marshals stood at the front of the hearing room in a position where they could quickly block the central aisle.

Slater had been scheduled for further testimony today, but he was hospitalized at the Washington Medical Center with possible head and neck injuries. A hospital source said his condition was satisfactory.

Instead, the committee called Edward Lemansky, 21, of New York to the witness chair. Lemansky, leader of a student trip to Cuba this summer, immediately challenged the authority of the committee.

"Show your government some courtesy," Ichord told him.

"I wish my govenment would show me some courtesy," Lemansky replied.

Ichord's gavel came down. "Proceed with the questioning," he ordered the committee counsel, Alfred M. Nittle.

Lemansky said the committee investigated communism but considered facism or nazism a homegrown all-American product.

"This definition of un-Americanism is repugnant to American principles," Lemansky said.

Lemansky read a statement objecting to committee's holding hearings at this time saying several students who had made the trip to Cuba were under indictment.

He also contended he had been given improper notice of the purpose of the hearings.

Ichord overruled all the objections,

Forecast Left Vote in Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Chileans vote today for a president, and their ballots may have a profound effect on Latin American Politics.

No matter who wins, this copper rich country—in which millions of American dollars have been invested—will be veering to the left.

Thursday night, only hours before the voters went to bed, the Communist party already was talking as if its candidate, Socialist Sen. Salvador Allende, had won.

Communist party chief Luis Corvalan told a news conference he hoped a "mutual understanding" could be reached for a government takeover of the giant U.S. companies that produce 90 per cent of Chile's copper. Corvalan said the amount of compensation to the companies would be "secondary."

Allende, 56, is opposed by another senator, Eduardo Frei, 53, who is a member of the Christian Democratic party and a moderate leftist. He favors more state control over foreign owned companies, but also says he wants to encourage more U.S. investments.

Political experts figuered Frei might win by a narrow margin.

The U.S. copper companies are Anaconda and Kennecott. Chile's telephone and electric companies also are U.S. owned.

The total number of ballots is expected to be around 2.5 million. The polls close 3 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time) and the outcome should be known within a few hours.

The new president will take office Nov. 4 for a six-year term. He will replace Jorge Alessandri, a middle-of-the-roader who is barred by the Constitution from another term.

Odds Appear Against SS Health Plan This Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The odds appeared today to be against enactment of a Social Security health-care plan this year despite the 60-28 Senate passage of a bill which would set up such a system.

The health-care provisions were written into the bill by a 49-44 vote Wednesday. The House had included no such plan in the bill it passed. A Senate-House conference committee will prepare the final version.

The Senate named conferees who had voted 5-2 against the health benefits for the aged, although they would normally support the Senate plan in conference.

The House delegation is expected to be headed by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., longtime fore of a Social Security-financed health program. He is likely to have a majority of the group who will side with him.

Nevertheless, Democratic leaders in both branches of Congress said they were determined to push as hard as possible for inclusion of some form of health benefits in the final version of the bill.

Osco Will Remodel Lee Theatre

The leasing of the Lee Theatre Building by the Osco Drug Co., was announced today by J. R. Gottlieb, president of the Lee-Dix Theatre Corp.

The drug concern will open a store here in the Spring of 1965, which will be its 39th.

A spokesman for Osco today said remodeling of the building to provide for an air conditioned sales area of 6,250 square feet will begin about Oct. 1.

The drug chain operates stores in six states. The firm organized in Rochester, Minn., in 1937, and in 1961, Osco became a wholly owned subsidiary of Jewel Tea Co., Chicago.

The general contract for remodeling the building, which is estimated to cost more than $80,000, has been awarded to J. A. Chrastek and Assoc. Inc., North Riverside.

Osco has stores in Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and Indiana, in addition to Illinois.

Ceilings Are Out of Season

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—"I'm afraid we'll never see that customer again," said Mrs. Richard Furtwangler as she surveyed the gaping hole in the ceiling of her husband's hardware store.

"Fortunately," she added, "no one was hurt."

Mrs. Furtwangler said a clerk had handed the customer a shotgun from the rack and the man snapped it to his shoulder, aimed at ceiling and pulled the trigger.

That was when he — and everyone else in the building — discovered that someone had loaded it with buckshot.

OGO Launching Set Tonight

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Launching of the OGO scientific satellite, frustrated once by ground support equipment trouble, is rescheduled for tonight.

The Atlas-Agena booster rocket is slated to blast off in a favorable 45-minute period starting at 8:23 p.m.

OGO, which stands for orbiting geophysical observatory, is the largest scientific satellite ever built by the United States. It is to probe many mysteries of space.

Flags Fly Half Staff For York

PALL MALL, Tenn. (AP) — Flags fly at half staff throughout this Cumberland Mountain hamlet today to honor Sgt. Alvin C. York, but the flag over the doughboy-hero's front porch fluters at the top of its staff.

York's body is being brought home. He died Wednesday in Nashville Veterans Hospital. Mountain folk who knew him as man and boy trudged past his casket in nearby Jamestown Thursday.

"Miss Gracey," his widow, had rejected Gov. Frank Clement's offer to let her husband lie in state at the Capitol in Nashville. The sun room of his modest farm home has been prepared for him and he will be buried in the family cemetery here Saturday.

Full military honors will be given at the funeral for the civilian soldier who won glory during the battle of the Argonne Forest in 1918 when he killed 25 Germans and captured 132.

He won the Medal of Honor and also was decorated by France and Italy. Medals and pictures of the hero adorn the room where he lived out his last 10 years.

York, 76, died after fighting off death in 10 previous trips to hospitals in the past two years. An acute infection of the urinary tract took his life.

Retired Gen. Mathew B. Ridgway, the first wartime commander of the 82nd Airborne Division, York's old outfit, will represent President Johnson at the funeral.

Cooler Readings Headed for State

CHICAGO (AP) — Cooler weather headed for Illinois today.

Temperatures soared into the 90s in most of the state Thursday and dropped no farther than the 60s and 70s during the night.

But slightly cooler conditions were forecast for the Labor Day weekend.

Showers threatened in a few areas around the center of the state Friday. And there was a possibility of scattered thundershowers Monday.

Temperatures were expected to go up into the 80s in the northern half of the state Friday, with a descent to the 50s at night. They were expected to range through the 80s and up to the middle 90s in the southern half of the state Friday, with overnight lows in the 58-65 spread.

Goldwater Rips LBJ in Speech

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater has set the tone of his presidential campaign with a slashing attack on President Johnson — and a victory forecast aimed at Republicans who don't like his candidacy.

The Arizona conservative fired the opening shots of his race against Johnson Thursday before a cheering crowd massed in front of the courthouse steps in Prescott, his family's original Arizona home.

On Saturday, he'll make a round-trip to Lockport, N.Y., for the campagin kickoff of Rep. William E. Miller, his vice presidential running mate.

Miller was on hand at Prescott for the Goldwater opening.

Goldwater told a smaller-than-forecast crowd of 4,000 to 6,000 he had heard complaints that the Republican ticket is a weak one.

"Many people in the East think this is the end of things," he said.

To answer them, Goldwater read what he said were newspaper accounts of Abraham Lincoln's 1860 presidential campaign. One called Lincoln the Republicans "weakest candidate."

Goldwater said he doesn't pretend to be a Lincoln but there's sure a similarity betwen 1860 and 1964 and like Abe Lincoln, Bill Miller and I are going to win."

Goldwater's voice rose to a shout as he accused Johnson of weakening U.S. deterrent forces. "When, oh when," he cried, "will man learn strong nations keep the peace."

At home, he declared: "The shadow of scandal falls, unlighted yet by full answers, across our White House itself—scandal extending from the ballot box to the safe deposit box."

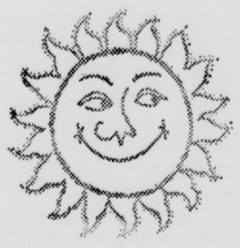
Attend the Church of Your Faith Regularly



Wake 'em up Gabriel!

There isn't much music coming out of that horn. But one thing's certain: this little fellow is making plenty of noise.

If it happens to be Sunday morning, when the family sleeps late, this sturdy musician isn't going to receive much praise. His lungs are strong, though, and he's going to sit there and toot that trumpet until Mom or Dad takes it away from him.

All of his playmates are at Sunday School, so you really can't blame him for trying to while away the idle hours. Unfortunately, his parents haven't got the Church-going habit, so this boy will probably grow up like them and sleep away the hours in which he could be getting spiritual nourishment.

You've got the right idea, Gabriel. Wake them up to their responsibility!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'Come to Church Sunday in Your Monday Clothes'

The Dixon Methodist Church, in an effort to give recognition to the American laboring man and woman, Sunday at the regular church services will hold a "Come to Church Sunday in your Monday Clothes."

Church officials said the two services, at 8 and 10 a.m., are designed to have the American working class honored on the eve of Labor Day.

It is expected that the people will come to church in their working clothes.

Illustrated Lecture Set Wednesday

Leonard L. Bowman, Ed.D., Missionary of the American Baptist Foreign Mission Societies to the Philippines, will speak and show slides illustrating his lecture at the Second Baptist Church, Third St. and Madison Ave., Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

The lecture, which is open to the public, is sponsored by the First and Second Baptist Churches.

The missionary-educator will present slides which will show how people live in the Pacific Islands.

A special short-term educational missionary assigned to Central Philippines University, Iloilo City, Dr. Bowman was Dean of the School of Graduate Studies. He also served on the board of trustees of the university and served as an adviser to a number of projects assigned by the board in general areas of administration.

Dr. Bowman retired from his position with the Santa Barbara California public schools in order to serve as a missionary. During the 36 years of his affiliation with the Santa Barbara School System, Dr. Bowman was vice-principal of the junior high school, principal of an elementary school, vice-principal of the high school, president of Santa Barbara Junior College, and at the time of his retirement, administrative assistant to the superintendent of schools.

Dr. Bowman received his B.S. degree from Kansas State Teachers College, and his M.A. and Ed.D. degrees from Stanford University.

Dixon-Reared Pastor's Far-Out Themes Keep His Churches Jumping

(Editor's Note — The following story is taken from the Spokesman-Review, Spokane, Wash. Rev. Sterling was born and reared in Dixon and he is a graduate of Dixon High School. His family formerly operated the Sterling Walgreen Drug Store in Dixon. Rev. Sterling's sister, Mrs. Ray Toot, lives on Rt. 4, Dixon.)

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Chandler W. Sterling, a former professional jazz musician, has some far-out themes to keep the Episcopal Church jumping in Montana.

Bishop of the Montana Diocese, the spiritual leader of 12,000, he has a reputation for independent thinking and frank speech.

"I'm trying to take the church out of the stained glass jungle," the 53-year-old bishop said. His office is on Helena's main street, Last Chance Gulch. He is proud of his western background and wears a tooled cowboy belt and large silver buckle with his clerical clothing.

—He says the Apostles didn't understand Christ.

—He refuses to consider Sunday sacred.

—He brought the first Negro clergyman into the state.

—He uses breezy, modern language in an informal way that surprises conservative churchmen.

Bishop Sterling refers to the Apostles as busintssmen, interested in their own advancement and possible political advantage. He said Christ is probably as misunderstood today as he was nearly 2,000 years ago.

He opens his guest speaking engagements by sitting at the organ and playing revival tunes and Negro spirituals. He asks the audience to clap hands and relax.

"We need a modernization of church language," he said. "I am referring to all churches. I don't think we are getting our message over. I am convinced the New Testament is not intelligible to most people."

When one woman complained about the Negro clergyman he brought into the state, he told her priests come in several different colos and she should have specified a choice.

When his oldest daughter was married in the Roman Catholic Church, he gave the bride away in traditional style. He later said Christians will all be united one day anyway.

"The churches are moving too slowly," Bishop Sterling said. "They have emerged from the horse and buggy into the Model T age, but that's about as far as they have gone."

Bishop Sterling wants more adult instruction classes, but not necessarily on Sunday.

"With an increasing number of our people spending the weekends, especially Sundays, in justifiable recreational pursuits the year around, how much longer do we really think that the old fashioned Sunday school is going to hold together? The future is here already."

Before he became a priest, he played with several dance bands.

"One band I was with, which I remember best, was billed as 'The Alaskans — A Cold Name But A Hot Band.'"

He went to Northwestern University of Evanston, Ill., for four years and then Seabury-Western Seminary.

"I still stayed in the music business," he said. "I played the organ at night in the Broadway Armory in Chicago. I furnished music for roller skaters, prize fights and wrestling matches and many dances."

Born in Dixon, Ill., he is married and has one son and seven daughters.

"I owe my job to no one," he said. "So I am free to be a gadfly, to take pot shots and criticize freely. Every organization needs one."

BIBLE QUESTION BOX

By ALLEN DIXON

"What Is the Strongest Proof That the Bible Is the Inspired Word of God?"

This question is difficult to answer for one reason: there are numerous strong proofs that the source of the Bible is God and not simply man.

One of the very strongest evidences is the fulfillment of Bible prophecy. No Bible prophecy has ever fallen short when the fulness of time arrived for its fulfillment!

There are Old Testament prophecies about many ancient cities and peoples. The destruction of ancient Babylon is foretold. (Read Isaiah 13:19-22, Isa. 14, Jeremiah 50.) The city was to be destroyed as Sodom and Gomorrah and should never be inhabited nor dwelt in from generation to generation. The Arab would not pitch his tent there nor would shepherds spend the night with their flocks and herds. Wild beasts should dwell there, owls and doleful creatures would infest it. This city was to be plundered until the walls and foundations were overturned. According to the prophecy, people passing by would be astonished at the desolation.

Founded in 2234 B.C., Babylon was one of the outstanding ancient cities. It had walls fifteen miles square, 350 feet high and 87 feet thick. It was built in the fertile valley of the Euphrates and was the capitol of the Babylonian empire. The above prophecies were written when Babylon was at the height of her glory; have they actually come to pass? The city now lies in ruins. No longer is the valley fertile; the Arab and the shepherd do not live at the site of the ancient city. Pools of water now stand where once great palaces stood. The hunter persues the wild beast and doleful creatures where once great streets were filled with commerce. Even Volney, a skeptical historian, expressed astonishment at the utter desolation of the city.

This is but one of multitides of Bible prophecies that have come to pass in minute detail tho written hundreds of years before time for the fulfillment.

This is the first in a series of articles dealing with Bible questions. If you have a question for discussion feel free to send it to . . .

CHURCH OF CHRIST
403 N. Ottawa, Dixon, Ill.

See the church directory in today's paper for the weekly schedule of services at the Church of Christ. Sermon for Sunday night, September 6 is "The Bible And The Theory Of Evolution."

Jewish New Year Begins Sunday

At sunset on Sunday, Sept. 6, Jews throughout the world will gather to observe the ancient and hallowed day of Rosh Hashonoh, the Jewish New Year. According to the Hebrew calendar, this is the year 5725.

Services for the Dixon-Sterling congregation will be held in the Temple Sholom, Sterling, beginning at sundown on Sunday. The traditional services will continue Monday and Tuesday, ending at sundown on Tuesday.

Rosh Hashonoh begins the ten-day period known as the "Days of Awe," ending with Yom Kippur, a day of fasting and atonement. The Jewish New Year, unlike that of other peoples, is greeted less with exuberance and gaiety, than with prayerful self-examination and contrition.

Though the exact origins of this holiday are buried in the ancient past, the Book of Exodus contains clear instructions for the ways in which this "Day of Judgment" was to be observed.

The manner in which Jews observe Rosh Hashonoh in 1964 is virtually unchanged from the period of the Babylonian exile (586 B.C.E.), though Orthodox Jews celebrate it for two days and Reform Jews for only one.

The most dramatic moment in the traditional Rosh Hashonoh service comes with the blowing of the shofor, a ram's horn (which is one of the oldest instruments known to man). The sound of the shofor is a piercing, powerful one; to Jews ancient and modern, it has meant many things; a call to battle, the tearing away of the old year, a plea to God that he remember man. But above everything else it is an alarm to man to awaken from his indolence and apathy, to rouse himself from moral torpor and with renewed zeal turn to the task of finding a place for God in God's own world.

Rosh Hashonoh is a holiday for reflection and self-evaluation, strongly colored with hope for the future. The wish for a "sweet" year of happiness and fulfillment is symbolically expressed at the traditional evening meal; families dip a piece of bread or apple into a bowl of honey, in the hope that "sweetness" will flavor the year to come.

Dr. Paul L. Parks, Dixon, is president of Temple Sholom and any further information regarding the services can be had by contacting Dr. Parks at 403 E. First St. or by calling 284-7111.

News in Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Farm Bureau Federation urged President Johnson today to ask Congress to repeal the administration's new wheat program before it goes home.

In a telegram sent to the White House, Charles B. Shuman, president of the federation, said the program is a failure from the standpoint of both farmers and consumers.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate put on a burst of speed today by meeting for just 2 seconds, then adjourning for the Labor Day weekend.

Sen. Lee Metcalf, D-Mont., matched his previous record as "the fastest gavel" in the Senate.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson signed today a bill to give federal aid to nursing training, calling it "truly a notable achievement towards raising standards of health care in the United States."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, scoring a major political coup, has won a public endorsement from 45 top businessmen, most of them longtime supporters of the Republican party.

CHICAGO (AP) — Information from FBI records will be made available to Illinois officials seeking to solve a wave of restaurant bombings and burnings.

Edward V. Hanrahan, U.S. attorney at Chicago, said today he has asked the FBI to check into reecnt restaurant bombings and to make available its information on such crimes to local enforcement agencies as well as to his office.

Ransack Home While Family Attends Funeral

CHANA — While friends and relatives of Isaac Canfield were attending his funeral, some unknown person ransacked the Canfield home, Rt. 1, Chana, and helped himself to $25 in cash.

Ogle County Chief Deputy Sheriff Ed Lang investigated the ransacking and said nothing else was reported missing except the money. Drawers were pulled out and the house was in general disorder when the family returned from the funeral.

The incident occurred Thursday afternoon.

Leland Woman Is Arrested After Crash

WATERMAN — Ruth A. Todd, 38, Leland, was arrested for driving on the wrong side of the road after her vehicle was involved in a two-car accident on Rt. 23, three miles south of Rt. 30, at 7:35 a.m. today.

According to State Police, the southbound Todd vehicle was driving in the northbound lane when it struck headon the northbound car driven by Linda E. Carey, 20, Somonauk.

Damage to the Todd vehicle is estimated at $350 and to the Carey vehicle at $1,000.

Fat at Premium

KANKAKEE, (AP) — The sheriff's office pondered this report today from Mrs. Anna Robbins of Pembroke Township—someone stole her fat pig and 15 fat hens, and left a skinny pig and skinny hens in their place.

Thursday includes not only the health-care program but also increased cash payments for all those now on the Social Security rolls.

The Senate made numerous changes in the measure so there is a wide area of disagreement for bargaining purposes in the conference.

A House showdown on the health issue is not expected until the week after next.

Basically, the House bill would provide a five per cent increase in retirement benefits, along with some other provisions.

The Senate voted instead for a $7 monthly basic increase for retirees, plus the health plan.

Both bills would increase Social Security taxes to pay for the added benefits.

Dixon School District Gets More Refund

CHICAGO (AP) — Atty. Gen. William G. Clark and four companies reached an agreement in a price fixing case Thursday that will return an additional $275,000 to 74 school districts and 45 counties of Illinois.

Clark said the setttlement will raise the amount accruing from all six companies involved to $575,000. Clark previously distributed pro-rata to the school districts a fund of $300,000 collected from two companies named in the suit.

Clark charged in the suit that the companies agreed to fix the price of folding gymnasium bleachers and decided the amount of business each company would be allocated.

Clark said all school districts involved have been notified of the settlement and their proportionate share.

Dixon Public School District will receive $967.50 as a result of the additional settlement.

Dixon Youth Injured by Shotgun Blast

An accidental gunshot wound sent a young Dixon youth to KSB Hospital early this morning.

John Wigginton, 14, 1606 Ninth St., was hit with a load of buckshot from a gun held by his grandfather, Pearl Wigginton, Dixon.

Hospital officials this afternoon told The Telegraph that young Wigginton is in "fair" condition.

Incomplete reports indicate that the boy and his grandfather were squirrel hunting in rural Dixon today when the mishap occurred.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wigginton, Dixon.

Fire Calls

Thursday's hot, muggy weather not only brought out the worst in some citizens but also it apparently caused at least four automobiles to be at their worst in Dixon.

Dixon firemen battled fires in two cars yesterday afternoon and another two early this morning.

In all fires except the last one reported, damage was confined to a minimum and no injuries were reported in any of the four.

The first call came at 3:20 p.m. Thursday, and firemen ran on foot to 123 Hennepin Ave. and put out the flames in the motor compartment of a car parked at the curb belonging to Bob Wetter, Mount Morris.

Firemen blamed a vapor lock in the carburetor for the flames.

The second alarm came just a few minutes later, at about 3:35 p.m. and one truck answered the call at 1905 Cummings St. where a car belonging to David Palmer was on fire. Dry powder was used to extinguish the blaze.

At 12:20 a.m. this morning the third call was received and again firemen fought another car fire.

As opposed to most fires where city firefighters have to go to the blaze, this time the fire was brought to the fire station.

A Dixon cab pulled up to the firehouse with one of its seats smoldering and firemen extinguished it in a matter of minutes.

The final fire, the one which did the most damage, came at nearly 7 a.m. this morning.

Harold Behrendt, 1614 Factory St., told the smoke eaters that when he went to his car this morning he found the passenger compartment burned out.

Department officials speculated that a fire had been smoldering inside the car all night.

No cause for the blaze has been determined and it appeared that no other damage was done to the car.

aggravate the condition, your physician may prescribe a suitable thyroid preparation. He also may wish to keep your oil glands in top running order with large doses of vitamin B-complex.

Among the newer preparations for controlling seborrheic dermatitis of the scalp is a selenum sulfide shampoo. Although highly toxic if taken internally and available only under a doctor's prescription, this preparation can suppress recurrence of the condition for long periods of time with only one application.

Although all of these help to control seborrheic dermatitis, the condition tends to return — unless preventive measures are faithfully followed. To avoid seborrheic dermatitis and the involved treatment required to keep it under control, most people have only to remember this one word of advice—cleanliness.

Electoral Board Rejects Open Occupancy Petitions

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Unless a court rules otherwise, a proposed referendum on open occupancy legislation will not be on the Nov. 3 Illinois ballot.

The State Electoral Board headed by Gov. Otto Kerner unanimously rejected Thursday petitions filed by property owner and realtor groups seeking the public policy referendum.

Backers of the proposition were urging a "no" vote in the referendum on whether the Legislature should pass laws requiring sale or rental of property regardless of race or religion.

Real Estate Board attorneys said they will ask the Illinois Supreme Court next week to overturn the Electoral Board's ruling and order the referendum held.

The board found the proposition was not stated in proper legal form.

Charles H. Percy, Republican nominee for governor, has opposed the referendum as being meaningless. He also has expressed opposition to open occupancy laws.

Two years ago, Kerner backed open occupancy legislation which lost by two votes in the Illinois House.

Rich Port of LaGrange, president of the Illinois Assn. of Real Estate Boards, bitterly attacked the Democratic controlled board and termed its action "politically motivated."

Denouncing the decision as "extremism in defense of racism," Port declared:

"While these political leaders turn their heads from the pickets, sit-ins and street rioters, they condemn the right of Illinois citizens to obtain a peaceful redress of grievances by petition and ballot."

The referendum was opposed by representatives of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and the United Citizens Committee for Freedom of Residence.

The Illinois Conference, African Methodist Episcopal Church congratulated Kerner for his leadership "in this critical matter."

Besides Kerner, the board includes Secretary of State William H. Chamberlain Atty. Gen. William Clark, State Auditor Michael Howlett and State Treasurer William J. Scott. Scott is the only Republican member.

The board threw out the referendum on the grounds it stated two questions on which voters would have only one vote.

James Winning of Springfield, attorney for the Real Estate Boards, argued the questions were related and were a single proposal.

One part asked if laws should be enacted forcing property owners or their agents to sell or rent to anyone not of their choosing.

The second part asked whether laws should permit the state, counties or municipalities to force sale or rental of property through regulatory practices on licensing of real estate brokers and salesmen.

Kerner said a voter might want to mark differently on the two parts yet could not do so because they were stated as a single proposition.

Such a referendum would not have a binding effect on the legislature.

Investigators of the secretary of state's office and some county clerks checked signatures on the petitions but did not find enough errors to disqualify them.

The petitions listed 545,616 signatures compared to the legal requirement of 510,000.

Gene Graves Disagrees With Percy

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — A state official took issue Thursday with a suggestion by Charles H. Percy, Republican nominee for governor, that the state should train businessmen.

Gene Graves, executive director of the Illinois Board of Economic Development, said Percy's statement was "an insult to both our business community and to the educational system" of Illinois.

Percy told the Illinois Commission on the Department of Commerce recently he would if elected, create a new department of commerce. One of its responsibilities, he said, would be to train entrepreneurs.

Graves said the dictionary defines an entrepreneur as a "person who organizes and manages a business undertaking assuming the risk for the sake of profit."

"It is our belief and contention," Graves said, "that it should not be the work of a code department within the state to train entrepreneurs."

Graves also criticized at a news conference numerous other points made by Percy before the commission Aug. 20.

He quoted Percy as saying that employment in Illinois in recent years has "only been increased by 35,000 jobs a year."

"The Department of Labor reports that 360,000 more people are working in Illinois than were working in 1961 when Gov. Kerner's administration began," Graves said.

Miss Anderson Is Bride Of Jay L. Pettegrew

OHIO—Sunday afternoon marriage vows were spoken in the Ohio Methodist Church by Miss Virginia Lee Anderson and Jay Leslie Pettegrew in a double-ring wedding performed by the Rev. William Heinbaugh. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Anderson, Ohio, and Mr. Pettegrew is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elting Pettegrew, Bradford.

Basket arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the church sanctuary for the ceremony and Vance Plapp provided organ accompaniment for vocal selections by Miss Helen Lackie, Bradford.

Bride's Gown

Sunday's bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor length gown of white peau de soie and she carried a cascading bouquet of stephanotis and ivy centered with a white orchid. The bodice of her gown was styled with tapered sleeves and a Sabrina neckline edged with Alencon lace, and appliques of lace trimmed the front of the bell skirt which featured floating side panels extending into a chapel train. A queen's crown of pearl-embroidered lace held her bridal veil of imported silk illusion.

Miss Gayla Anderson, maid of honor, and Mrs. Sharon Covert and Miss Karen Seavy, Peoria, attendants, wore identically designed full length gowns of aqua silk organza over taffeta. Their molded bodices were styled with scooped necklines and brief sleeves, and their dome-shaped skirts were accented by butterfly back-bows. Four-tiered maline veils trimmed their matching bow headpieces, and their flowers were white glamellias.

Miss Lori Pettegrew and Miss Valerie Pettegrew, Champaign, nieces of the bridegroom, served as flower girls and wore aqua organza frocks similar to those worn by the attendants and made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Guy Eyer.

A pink shantung and lace costume was worn by Mrs. Anderson with matching accessories, and black accessories were chosen by the bridegroom's mother to accent her dress of imported pink linen. Their flowers were corsages of cymbidium orchids.

John Pettegrew, Palo Alto, Calif., and James Pettegrew, Champaign, attended their brother as groomsmen, and John Hanck, Champaign, served as best man. Ushering was done by Jerry Pettegrew, Bradford, also a brother of the bridegroom, and Larry Anderson, Ohio, the bride's brother.

Mrs. Paul Reed, Mrs. Clayton Guither, Mrs. Dewey Johnson and Mrs. Wayne Johnson were in charge of a reception held in the parlors of the church following the ceremony, and Miss Irene Behrends, Sheffield, presided at the guest book.

A tiered wedding cake centering the refreshment table was served by Mrs. Robert Linden, Princeton, and Miss Herma Anderson, and coffee and punch were poured by Mrs. Thomas Monier, Walnut; Mrs. Max Anderson, Princeton, and Mrs. Lloyd Anderson. Acting as hostess for the reception was Mrs. Leslie Anderson, and gifts were displayed by Miss Janet Tucker, Bradford; Miss Ruth Carolyn Johnson, Galesburg; Miss Carol Anderson, Miss Cindy Anderson, Gary Linden and Gary Monier.

To Wisconsin

For their Wisconsin honeymoon, the new bride wore a jacket-dress of mint green shantung with matching accessories. She is a graduate of Ohio High School and Methodist Hospital School of Nursing, Peoria.

The newlyweds will be residing in Champaign where Mr. Pettegrew, a Bradford High School graduate, will enroll as a junior in the University of Illinois.

Rehearsal for Theatre Group Is Saturday

A new rehearsal schedule is announced for the Broadway-in-Miniature Childrens' Theatre by the group's co-directors, Miss Rosalie Hanson, vocal music instructor in the Dixon Public Schools, and Richard Kroeger, head of the music department of Newman Central Catholic High School, Sterling.

A rehearsal is set for 3 p.m. Saturday in the First Methodist Church for the organization which is currently preparing a production of "Alice in Wonderland." Previous musicals given by the group were "Snow White" and "Hansel and Gretel."

Prospective members are invited to join the Children's Theatre, and auditions for children enrolled in grades three through seven will be conducted in conjunction with Saturday's rehearsal.

CARE OF CHILD'S HAIR

A child's hair can be damaged by permanenting or too tight curling. It is best to delay the first permanent until she is at least 14. If her hair is straight, have the beautician cut and shape it so it can be worn simply and neatly without the constant struggle of nightly settings.

Miss Lavon Martenson Becomes Bride of James Gilman Sunday

Arrangements of white gladioli trimmed the altar of the Immanuel Lutheran Church, Rock Falls, for the Sunday afternoon wedding of Miss Lavon Martenson, daughter of the Lawrence Martensons, rural Rock Falls, and James D. Gilman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Gilman, Dixon.

The Rev. E. A. Henrichs was officiating clergyman for the double-ring ceremony, and nuptial musicians were Mrs. Herman H. Oltman and Merle Von Holten. Their selections included "Today, O Lord," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Attendants

Floor length gowns of sapphire blue peau de faille were worn by the bride's cousins, Miss Esther Schulte who served as maid of honor, and Miss April Scanlon, bridesmaid. The fitted bodices of their gowns featured scooped necklines and elbow-length sleeves, and front inverted panels accented their shirred bouffant skirts. Matching roses formed their veil-trimmed headpieces, and they carried blue and white carnations arranged in colonial bouquets.

White nylon organza and French lace fashioned the bride's gown designed with a basque bodice, long sleeves tapering to wristpoints and a scalloped square-cut neckline embroidered with pearls and sequins. The gown's chapel length skirt was highlighted by back tiers of lace, miniature bows and a scalloped front panel, and her illusion veil cascaded from a pearl and crystal crown. A white orchid centered her bouquet of white feathered chrysanthemums and ivy.

The flower girl, Miss Cindy Martenson, sister of the bride, wore a white lace-trimmed frock with a white hat, and the white basket she carried held blue carnations and white chrysanthemums. Mr. Gilman was attended by Gerald Mezo as best man, and Warren Stultz, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, was groomsman. Duane Cowley, cousin of the bride, acted as ringbearer, and Mr. Martenson escorted his daughter to the altar as the ceremony began.

Guests from Dixon, Walnut, Sterling, Rock Falls, Harmon, Rockford, Tampico, Morrison, Fulton, West Brooklyn, Morris and from Argyle, Wis., and Grabill, Ind., were ushered by Darwin Martenson, Allen Hopkins, Roger Von Holten and Arlie Martenson.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES D. GILMAN

Mrs. Martenson selected a pastel blue frock and matching hat for the ceremony, and a blue and white jersey dress was worn with matching accessories by the bridegroom's mother. Both wore shoulder corsages of pink rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. John Von Holten, the bride's uncle and aunt, acted as hosts for a reception held in the church parlors following the service when guests were registered by the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Warren Stultz. A four-tiered cake baked and cut by Mrs. Glen Genz, aunt of the bride, centered the serving table where coffee and punch were poured by Mrs. George Cowley, also the bride's aunt, and Mrs. Rudy Hahn. Presiding at the gift table were Mrs. Fred Perrizo, Miss Patricia Mock, Miss Debbie Haas, Miss Donna Haas and the bride's cousins, Miss Janet Hopkins and Miss Linda Hopkins.

Assistants

Mr. and Mrs. James Von Holten, uncle and aunt of the bride, were in charge of the dining room and were assisted by Miss Vicky Von Holten, Miss Jane Von Holten, Miss Marsha Martenson, the bride's cousins, and Miss Janet Plautz.

The orchid from her bouquet and white accessories complemented the two-piece blue and white suit worn by the bride for their northern wedding trip. She is a 1961 graduate of Rock Falls High School, and Mr. Gilman attended Dixon High School. He is presently stationed with the Air Force at Ellsworth AFB, S.D., and they will reside at Mira Mar Trailer Court, Box Elder, S.D.

Mrs. Flatt Is Hostess for Unit Picnic

A recent picnic arranged by the Dixon Evening Homemakers Extension Unit at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Flatt was attended by 27 members and guests.

Mrs. Martha Dean, hostess committee chairman, was assisted by Mrs. Flatt, Mrs. Donald Giese, Mrs. George Holland, Mrs. C. E. Mellott and Mrs. Walter Parker in arranging the picnic, and recreation was directed by Mrs. Holland.

The unit's next meeting was announced for Sept. 22 when membership dues will be collected.

Elegant Fashions Are Designed For Formal Autumn Occasions

By HELEN HENNESSY

Pleasure in the casual dress of summer begins to wane about now. And the prospect of dressing up for crisp fall evenings is an inviting one.

New York designers have made it even more palatable by subtly blending elegance and fashion for after-five events.

Tailoring

Shapes with just a hint of fit move with the body and are created for figure-flattery with bias cuts and superb tailoring.

Necklines are cut with verve and dash — wide Vs, bateau, soft cowls and surprise backs. Sleeves range from none at all to the new wrist length and skirts are alive with hem-line mobility.

Fabrics make news in a wealth of diversification—souffle and flat sheer wools, velvets, satin-back and pure silk crepes, brocatelles, metallic brocades and imported lace.

Color glows and vies with black for top billing. There are winter pastels, white, hot pink, many greens and pale to deep red. Unusual color combinations are done imaginatively.

The current crop of cocktail, dinner, theater and evening dresses are short in length but long on fashion. A young look with lots of shape turns up in short, rib-ottoman coats with their own dresses. There are two-piece crepes with flared skirts for sophisticated chic.

Black Lace

For a real formal look there is black, imported Chantilly lace, with soft ruching outlining a low U-neckline and a long-stemmed skirt. Ankle-length silk crepes will also move gracefully through the season and sumptuous metallic brocades will make a grand entrance when the occasion demands a "long."

Just one look at the fall after-five fashions will fill you with the longing to get out of your casual togs and revel in elegance.

Presbyterian Circle Meetings To Be Tuesday

Mrs. Charles Hey, Polo, will be assisted by Mrs. John F. Brown in entertaining members of the First Presbyterian Church Women's Association Circle One at 1:15 p.m. Tuesday when Mrs. George Lindquist will be in charge of Bible study, and the mission study will be prepared by Mrs. Lawrence Anderson.

Circle Two members will be guests of Mrs. Gerald Gamel at 8 p.m. Tuesday with Mrs. Robert McMurray as co-hostess. Miss Ethel Jamison will present the Bible study, and Mrs. Warren Walder will lead the mission study.

Circle members are reminded that "coin cards" are to be brought to the meetings for dedication.

Miss Huff Is Honored at Bridal Shower

Mrs. Edwin Merrick and Miss Helen Miller entertained guests at a Monday evening miscellaneous bridal shower in the Merrick home honoring Miss Sharon Huff who will become the bride of Irvin Kendell, Sterling, in a wedding to be performed Saturday in Broadway Methodist Church, Sterling.

Games of progressive bunco provided party entertainment, and the bride-to-be opened shower gifts at a table placed in the Merrick's garden which was lighted by lanterns and candles.

Blue and white floral arrangements centered with lighted blue tapers trimmed refreshment tables arranged for Mrs. William Kewish, Mrs. Richard Scharpf, Mrs. Bess Stewart, Mrs. Erwin Huff, Mrs. Clarence Huff, Mrs. Delroy Long, Mrs. Delbert Long, Mrs. William Ferger, Mrs. Carrol Schumacher, Mrs. Walter Wagner, Mrs. Warren Huff, Miss Rita Sue Villiger, Miss Anna Merrick, Miss Linda Friend, Miss Jane Huff, Miss Cathy Scharpf, Miss Diane Ferger, Miss Doris Long and Miss Marilyn Huff, Dixon, and Mrs. Thomas Lavelle, Mrs. Harold Stewart and Miss Barbara Denning, Sterling.

FREEDOM OF INFORMATION

At the recent Democratic Party Convention in Atlantic City, some planks were nailed together. One of them read as follows:

"The government's business is the people's business. Information about public affairs must continue to be freely available to the Congress and to the Public."

Early this year a "Freedom of Information Bill" — Bill number S.1666 and sponsored by Senator Edward V. Long of Missouri, was given to the Senate. Hearings have been held by the Senate Subcommittee of Administrative Practice and Procedure of the Committee on the Judiciary. This bill would amend the Administrative Act of 1946 "to clarify and protect the right of the public to information about governmental affairs."

Two weeks ago this bill passed the Senate twice in some 24 hours. After the first voice it was called back by Senator Hubert Humphrey for reconsideration. After some adjustments it was passed again and sent to the House.

At the present time it is before the House Judiciary Committee where it has been put in a pigeon hole where it will have no hope of being considered and will die and be buried without any consideration. This bill will die automatically with adjournment of this session of Congress unless something is done.

We feel it is imperative that every one who reads this editorial, no matter what their politics, sit right down and write both their Senators and Representatives and try to build a fire under them for action. In Illinois it is Senator Everett Dirksen and Senator Paul Douglas, c/o Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C., and our Congressional District, the 18th, it is Robert Michel, c/o House Office Building, Washington, D.C. We are sure that Senator Dirksen and Congressman Michel are for this bill but cannot vouch for Senator Douglas, but hope he would favor the bill.

In the light of the apparent coverup of the Infamous Bobby Baker and Billy Sol Estes cases we think the people have a right to know. We can understand why Senator Humphrey might want to delay action on the bill, but we cannot see why our readers would delay writing their repesentatives in Congress if they really want the truth of what's going on in our country.

Could it be that this particular plank is so loosely nailed to the Democratic platform that it could be lost between Atlantic City and Washington intentionally?

Red Technique of Gradualism

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

President Charles de Gaulle further sabotages Europe's Common Market, enlivening it like a skunk at a garden party. Italy falters in the boom. Structural strains increase.

Al Capone used to say: "We don't want no trouble." He was doing best, without it. The Kremlin is repeating this to Europe and to Washington. And that strategy has become the most disruptive clog in the Common Market machinery.

Khrushchev is saying that heaven can wait. He's providing it now: peace and a relaxation of tensions. His stance is as dangerous as was Al Capone's. And Washington is helping the danger mightily by putting a good face on the Soviet Union at every turn.

European unity under the so-called New Europeans has thus undergone a great change behind the scenes. Little of our political thinking has adjusted to this. Neither has our boom psychology nor our expanding investments abroad.

TAYLOR

The Common Market garden party began under five leaders pressing for European integration—France's Jean Monnet and Robert Schuman, Italy's Alcide de Gasperi, Germany's Konrad Adenauer and Belgium's Paul-Henri Spaak. The results bloomed in the 1948-58 decade. The New Europeans then talked as though a United States of Europe could be built quickly—in one generation, at most.

The central fact, now overlooked, was that the chief urge toward all this integration arose from the Soviet threat.

That situation remains full of wild greed and savage lust for power, but the wily Soviet wisely came up with its peace offensive. The Kremlin's lion-into-lamb treachery softened up one Common Market country after another and the drive toward integration gradually weakened like a winded miler. Moreover, bureaucracy inevitably played its part. The Common Market operates within a treaty that consists of 248 articles and is administered in Brussels by more than 5,000 people. The setup is intensely bureaucratic; "Beamtenstaat," as the Germans say and as the headquarters is now widely konwn.

The Soviet knew that the Europeans are not really prepared to jump immediately from the national into the European era.

Europe contains two main political traditions: one derives from Roman law, the other from German common law. The Roman evolution dominates the political doctrines of the Latin countries led by France, Italy, Spain and Belgium. The other is the root of most continental doctrines elsewhere. It is translated now in the spirit, and approximately the structure, of the old German political institutions like the "Genossenschaft," a sort of cooperative society.

In truth, the Common Market idea, on the economic side, was not new in either French or German spheres of influence. It was the idea of political integration — which comprises the bottom third of the Rome Treaty that contains the Common Market provision — that is unique and which many felt guaranteed the Common Market's success.

But in actual practice, under the Soviet peace offensive, old feelings, preferences and prejudices have emerged, symbolized by a famous Swiss story:

A teacher asked a little boy who was the first man on earth.

"William Tell!"

"Think again," the teacher said.

"William Tell!" repeated the boy.

"And what about Adam?" asked the teacher.

"Oh, yes, sire — if you include the foreigners."

This resistance to coordination flows through the wars and through the centuries. The Soviet peace offensive cashes in on it exactly as it is cashing in on Washington's nonresistance in another way. The result leaves our foreign policy as confused as a punch-drunk pug fighting himself in the movies.

This column recently stated that what Khrushchev wanted President Kennedy to do was not to make peace as the late President understood it, but to make the President stop resisting the U.S.S.R. and seal the status quo, plus much more. He wants the same with President Johnson.

What we are seeing here and abroad is the Soviet technique of gradualism. Accustom people to retreating and you can gradually dominate exactly the economic and military resistances that bloomed under threats but fade when the lion merely dresses himself like a lamb.

March of Dimes Chairman Edward Jones was both pleased and appreciative of the contributions.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I am a 16-year-old boy and I have acne pretty bad. What is the best way to shave and not make it worse?

A—There is no one method that is best for everyone. But most boys find an electric shaver easiest on the skin. Others try the electric then switch back to a safety razor. If you use a safety razor, shave carefully with the grain, not against it. Soften your beard with soap and hot water before you start. If your beard is not too heavy, shave only once or twice a week. After shaving rinse with cold water and apply an astringent antiseptic solution.

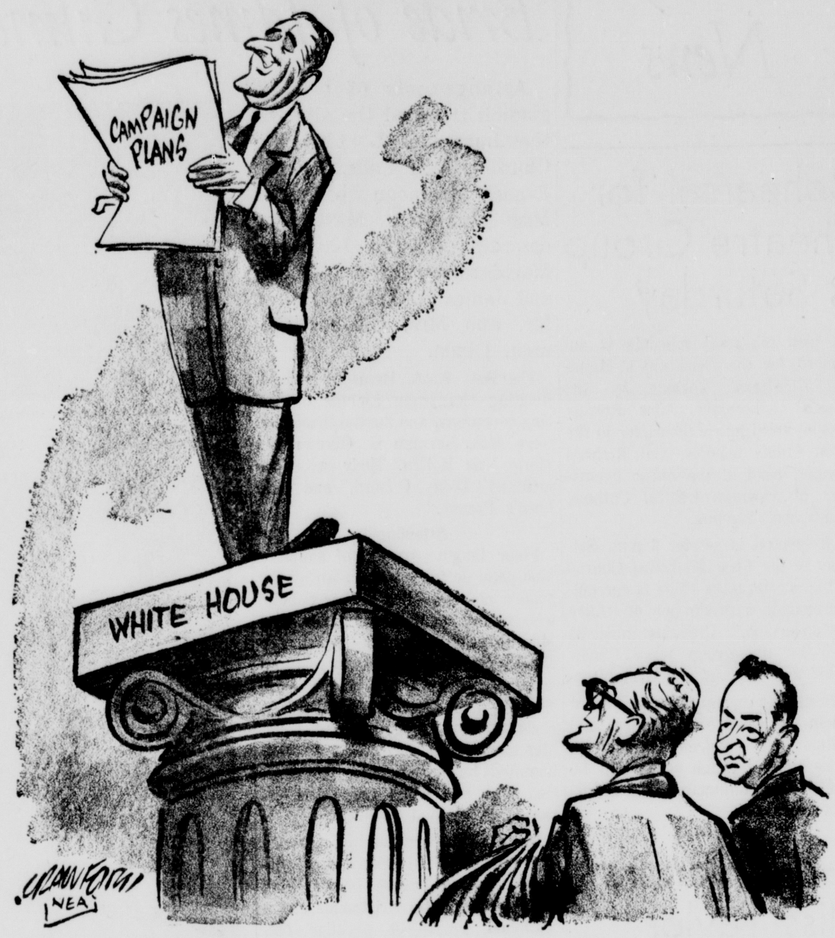
Q—Is there such a thing as a carrier of a venereal disease? If a man had gotten such a disease from a woman wouldn't she know she had this disease?

A—If by "carrier" you mean a person who has a veneral disease in the contagious stage but does not know there is anything amiss, the answer is yes. Women are much more likely to have infectious syphilis or gonorrhea without symptoms than are men. In case of doubt it is best to have a blood test.

Q—I have been having severe pains that run from my nose over my eye, down my neck and out to my shoulder. My doctor says I have Sluder's headache but so far as I'm concerned he can have it back. What causes these headaches?

A—Sluder's neuralgia is a type of facial neuralgia that is caused by chronic infection in the nasal sinuses. As with other forms of neuralgia, drugs taken by mouth give very little relief. Injecting the nerve root with hot water or alcohol should help you. If the effect wears off too quickly a more permanent type of relief can be obtained by having the nerve root cut across completely.

"How Do You Suppose We Can Get Him Off That Pedestal?"



Dear Ann:

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: About ten days ago my husband, who is just full of little surprises, brought home a baby alligator from a recent business trip to Florida.

Whenever anyone wants to take a bath I have to fish out "Pocketbook" with the trout net. To put it mildly I am sick of the smell of the thing, sick of the looks of the thing, and just plain fed up with having to scour the bathtub two and three times a day.

Last night I had my bridege club over and forgot to mention that we had acquired a new pet. One of the women wandered into the bathroom and almost had a heart attack.

This morning I told the family we'd have to call the humane society and find out how to dispose of "Pocketbook" in the most humane manner. The kids are all against me and so is my husband. Please give me some help. I need it. — OUTNUMBERED

Dear Out: The family bathtub is no place for an alligator. Get "Pocketbook" out of there and instruct the kids to call a pet store and find out how to take care of the reptile.

When the kids have to scour the tub several times a day they will be calling the humane society.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I married Conrad two years ago. I am now 29 and he is 38. His first wife died in childbirth three years ago. I have been a good wife and mother to his three children. We now have a child of our own.

I have never said one word about my problem because to be honest about it, I am ashamed to tell anyone. Conrad still carries his first wife's picture in his wallet.

Everytime I see it I get hurt feelings. I've thought of talking it out once and for all, but I just can't bring myself to do it. Should I get up my courage and tell him how I feel?—OMITTED WIFE

Dear Wife: Say nothing. Your husband has not been able to remove his first wife's picture because he probably has traces of guilt feelings about remarrying. Of course this is not rational — it's emotional.

One day when he feels comfortable about his remarriage he will take out his first wife's picture and replace it with yours. Until then, be patient—and silent.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: Ten lashes with an old money belt for you, Kiddo. Your advice to the woman whose gentleman friend picked up the quarter in the back seat of the taxi and put it in his pocket was wrong. YOU said the man should have given it to the driver of the taxi because it was rightfully his.

As two juniors of a top Illinois law school we wish to advise you that your advice was ill-advised.

According to Illinois law the back seat of a taxi is a public place. Whatever is found there belongs to the finder. So eat your humble pie and tell the guy you were wrong. —CUM LAUDE MAYBE

Dear Cum Laude! You should live so long. If you birds expect to pass the bar you'd better pay closer attention to your books.

My legal advisers tell me that in Illinois a taxi cab is not a public place. It is a privately owned vehicle used as a common carrier. The driver has full possession and custody of the vehicle and he is responsible for safely transporting its passengers and their goods. A passenger is not in possession of the cab and has no right to property found therein—even if it's in the back seat.

* * *

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Today in History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Sept. 4, the 248th day of 1964. There are 118 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1886, Apache Indians under Chief Geronimo surrendered to Gen. Nelson Miles at Skeleton Canyon, Ariz.

In 1929, the German dirigible Graf Zeppelin completed a trip around the world.

In 1953, Florence Chadwick of California set a speed record in swimming the English Channel from England to France.

In 1953, the highest-ranking U.S. Army officer captured by the Communists, Maj. Gen. William Dean, was released after 37½ months in North Korean prisons.

Ten years ago — Six of the seven men aboard were killed when a Navy transport plane crashed into Chesapeake Bay.

Five years ago—United Arab Republic President Gamel Nasser and King Saud of Saudi Arabia, meeting in Cairo, were reported ready to agree to resume diplomatic relations with Britain, broken off during the Suez crisis of 1956.

One year ago — Attorney Roy M. Cohn was indicted on a charge of perjury and obstruction of justice; the first case later ended in a mistrial and the second time in acquittal.

Ruth Millett

"When my husband and I go to church, I am always taken aback when I realize how many people he knows. I feel like a stranger—as though I hadn't kept pace with him. What should I do?"

To the wife who has asked me for an answer to that question I would like to say this:

Your husband may be ahead of you now. But there's nothing to keep you from catching up if you really try.

You say you have few friends of your own, that most of the people you see as couples are his friends. Well, that can be changed. You can make his friends your friends, too, if you will stop coasting along as the meek little wife and assert your own personality.

You say your husband is active in community and church affairs while your only interests for years have been your home and family. Well, find out about the work your husband is doing. You won't feel so left out if you know what he is trying to accomplish and can give him some encouragement.

With as many opportunities as there are for women to do worthwhile community work no wife has to sit back and envy her husband because he is a real part of the community. She can contribute just as much, if she is willing to work.

You say your husband is much more at ease socially than you are. That is probably because he is out meeting people every day—while you are sitting at home. Get out on your own a little, even if it is an effort at first.

And last, but not least, quit low-rating yourself. You aren't alone in your situation. Lots of women fail to keep up with their husbands through the years. But most of those who lag behind never face the fact. You have faced it—and are ready to do something about it. That's a good start already.

So start catching up with him today. Not only will you feel a better person for it, but your husband will find you infinitely more interesting.

HAY-WIRE

MIAMI (AP)—A truck loaded with hay lumbered up the wrong ramp at the end of Miami's Airport expressway and blundered into oncoming traffic.

In an amazing display of understanding, the bottlenecked drivers patiently waited without even a toot of a horn while the trucker made a U-turn and quickly left.

"A Texan Looks At Lyndon"

By J. EVETTS HALEY,

noted Southwest historian and cowman. A lifelong Democrat, Mr. Haley is the most qualified author to write the story of Lyndon Baines Johnson. He reveals how a Texas school teacher amassed $14,000,000, during 30 years as a public servant; the how and why of notorious "Ballot Box 13"; about Lyndon's protege, Bobby Baker; and the connection with Billy Sol Estes. You owe it to yourself, your family and your country to be correctly informed on this man who seeks to be elected President. This book is factual and well documented.

Boyle Remebers When —

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — When present day woes oppress you and modern pleasures pall, you can always get a chuckle out of living by leaning back and remembering when:

Grandpa would pay you a nickel to clean his spats.

It was the height of deviltry on April Fool's day to call up the zoo and ask, "Is Mr. Wolf there?"

You finally learned to tie your own shoes — and felt that life could hardly hold a greater victory.

A dime would buy you more licorice than you could chew in a day.

One of the last things you did before going to sleep was to hide your gum wad in a place where you could find it again — and your mother couldn't.

People would stay up until after midnight for the thrill of tuning in a new station on the family's crystal radio set.

If a kid didn't have a patch on the right knee of his stocking, you knew one thing for sure about him —he was no good at playing marbles.

You knew that your guardian angel protected you during the night, but you often pondered the mystery of where she kept herself during the day.

You were too shy to tell your kindergarten teacher that all you wanted out of life was to grow up and marry her.

All boys carried knives, but it never occurred to them to use the blades on each other.

Immediately after smoking your first cigarette you ran home and looked in the mirror to see if you had caught tuberculosis.

A juvenile delinquent was a lad who jumped on the back of a street car and jerked the overhead trolley off the wire.

The most sophsticated comeback to any remark was the reply, "So's your old man."

Everybody in the neighborhood knew you had fallen in love with the little girl down the street when you finally agreed to play hopscotch with her in public.

Grownups argued about the tariff question, but all their kids worried about was how to get rid of warts.

When you tried to play sick, mom simply asked you to stick out your tongue. If your tongue wasn't coated, she decided you were well enough to go to school — and you went.

The worst thing about losing a front tooth was that it ruined your whistling.

You went to bed tired and woke up hungry — instead of the other way around.

Seven Lettermen Return to Forreston

Key Injuries, Few Juniors May Hurt Cards' Chances

By JIM BLUBAUGH
Telegraph Sports Editor

Forreston is the perennial power of the Route 72 Conference, but Head Coach Fred Erickson thinks fortunes may take a tumble this year.

In 1962 the Cardinals compiled a record of six wins, one loss, and one tie, bringing it up to a seven and one mark last year.

However, injuries have already dampened prospects around the Cardinals camp, says Erickson, with the fact that there are only four juniors out for football not helping matters.

Seven lettermen returned to the squad, four of them starters. Last year's second string quarterback and a probable starter this year, Jim Van Ness, is already on the disabled list with a finger injury.

Another injury, which hurts not only this year's squad, but last year's also, was to Dick Stocker. Stocker, two years ago in his sophomore year made the all-conference team at halfback, but last year was laid up by a knee injury. He is expected to see no action this year, either.

The seven lettermen back are: John Brass, Jim Schneiderman, Bruce Taylor, Tom Fribie, Jeff Moring, Bill Duitsman, and Dennis Meinert.

The coaching staff, besides Erickson, consists of Art Carpenter and Rusty Egan, the latter who was head coach last year when Erickson was on academic leave.

There are 43 candidates for the team: 12 seniors, four juniors, 13 sophomores, and 14 freshmen.

Erickson feels the size of his squad is about average, but its speed will be "slow".

Forreston opens its season at Mount Morris, with a home (conference) game against Franklin Center the following week, Sept. 25. All games but Mount Morris are conference.

Following is the schedule:
Sept. 18—Mount Morris (There)
Sept. 25—Franklin Center (Home)
Oct. 2 —Leaf River (There)
Oct. 9 —Byron (Home)
Oct. 17—Ashton (There)
Oct. 23—Open Date
Oct. 30—Stillman Valley (Home)
Nov. 6 —Pecatonica (There)

St. Pat's Church League Champs

After four futile attempts at winning the Church League Championship Playoff game, St. Pat's finally did it, scoring a 9-1 win over St. Paul's

St. Pat's, led by pitcher Dave Oliveras and the long ball, fell behind in the first as Bob Reiser for St. Paul's drove home its only run with a single.

St. Pat's lead off hitter, Jim Montavon, hit a long home run over the centerfield fence to tie the game.

Then, after a scoreless second inning, St. Pat's went in front to stay with three runs. Jack Goral drove home two with a single and then scored after an error.

In the fifth St. Pat's scored four runs. After an error and a walk, Barry Royster crashed a three run homer to put the game on ice. Gene Goral drove in the other tally with a single to left.

The last run scored in the bottom of the sixth.

Olivares survived a shakey start to shutout St. Paul's after the first and never let a runner advance as far as third, after the first.

He whiffed five of the last six batters to face him, ending the evening with seven.

Peanie Bruce had two doubles to pace the victors. Bob Reiser and John Riece each had two hits for the losers.

Chiefs Whack Oilers, 27-17

By The Associated Press

The Kansas City Chiefs, who had some trouble winning ball games last year, may have had the answer sitting on the end of the bench all the time.

Charley Warner, a runner from Prairie View A&M, spent most of his rookie season watching the Chiefs dissipate the American Football League championship they had won a year earlier as the Dallas Texans.

But against the Houston Oilers Thursday night, he scored one touchdown on a 97-yard kickoff return, ran back a punt 80 yards setting up a field goal and helped the Chiefs whack the Oilers 27-17 for their fourth exhibition victory in five starts.

There are no games scheduled tonight but both the American and National Leagues move back into action Saturday.

In the AFL, winless Boston visits Denver, Buffalo and New York meet at Wilkes-Barre, Pa., and Oakland is at San Diego.

Saturday's NFL schedule is headed by the annual doubleheader at Cleveland with the Browns hosting Green Bay and New York playing Detroit. Unbeaten Minnesota meets Philadelphia at Hershey, Pa., Dallas and Chicago are at New Orleans, St. Louis plays Washington at Norfolk, Va., and San Francisco is at Los Angeles in other games.

Sunday's only action is the annual Hall of Fame game at Canton, Ohio with Baltimore playing Pittsburgh.

Orioles Increase Margin Over Idle White Sox, Losing Yanks

By The Associated Press

Felix Mantilla has moved around so much this season, Boston Manager Johnny Pesky would like to give him a rest.

But you don't bench a guy who's hitting home runs at a faster rate than Dick Stuart.

The 30-year-old Mantilla continued his amazing onslaught Thursday night, clouting two homers and two singles, driving in three runs, as Boston defeated Kansas City 7-5.

The homers increased Mantilla's season total to 24, only 11 short of the number he hit altogether in his first eight seasons in the majors.

Stuart leads the Red Sox with 30 homers—he also is tied for fourth in the American League—but the slugging first baseman has hit his homers at the rate of one for every 17 times at bat. Mantilla has connected once every 14 trips to the plate.

Mantilla has started at six positions—all three outfield posts, second base, shortstop and third base. He played left field for his latest outburst.

His first homer opened a two-run fifth inning that tied the game 3-3. Mantilla's run-scoring single gave the Red Sox another deadlock 4-4, in the sixth. He finished his one-man attack with a bases-empty homer in the eighth.

In other AL games, Baltimore defeated Minnesota 4-1 and Los Angeles stopped New York 4-2.

Dick Radaz recorded his 13th victory in relief for Boston, allowing two hits in the final four innings. He struck out six. One of the hits off Radatz was Wayne Causey's run-producing single in the sixth that put the Athletics into a 5-4 lead.

The Red Sox, however, struck back in the seventh on Ed Bressoud's two-run homer off reliever John Wyatt.

The Orioles increased their league lead to one game over the idle Chicago White Sox. Wally Bunker pitched a six-hitter for his 14th triumph against four defeats, giving up a run in the fourth inning on singles by Harmon Killebrew and Jimmie Hall, a walk and a grounder.

Jack Brandt ripped a three-run double with two out in the seventh inning, breaking a 1-1 tie. The blow came off starter Camilo Pascual, 13-10, after Baltimore loaded the bases on Luis Aparicio's single, a double by Brooks Robinson and an intentional walk to Charlie Lau.

The third-place Yankees fell four games behind the Orioles, getting only four hits off the combined pitching of Ken McBride and Bob Lee. McBride went the first five innings and gained only his second victory since June 11.

Lee, who held the Yankees hitless, made his 62nd appearance, tying the AL record for a rookie held by Radatz.

Jim Fregosi and Lou Clinton each drove in two Angel runs, Fregosi cracking a two-run homer in the first inning and Clinton belting a two-run double in the fifth.

ChiSox Hope To Fatten Up on Cleveland Indians

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago White Sox have strong blood ties with the war-whooping Cleveland Indians but hope to let a large quantity of Tribe blood in the Sox pennant cause this weekend. The Indians, although fifth, have won 11 of their last 12 games.

As the Indians appear tonight to start a four-game visit, Sox Manager Al Lopez, who directed the Indians to a 1954 American League pennant, will have as an added coaching starter, Minnie Minoso, once a steady commuter between the Indians and White Sox.

The 41-year-old Minoso was named a fifth Sox coach Thursday as General Manager Ed Short failed to induce Commissioner Ford Frick to lift his Wednesday veto of the purchase of the veteran Cuban outfielder from the Sox Indianapolis farm club Tuesday.

Frick said he thought the White Sox violated the spirit of a rule, which he admitted was faulty, in releasing Minoso July 17 and then buying him back from Indianapolis.

Minoso broke in with the Indians in 1951. The same season he went to the White Sox and played seven straight seasons in Chicago before the Sox traded him back to the tribe.

The Sox got Minnie back from Cleveland in 1960 and he played two seasons before the club swapped him to the St. Louis Cardinals in 1962.

The Sox now trail the pacesetting Baltimore Orioles by a full game in the American League race.

The White Sox hope to do some important fattening up on Cleveland against whom they hold an 8-3 record with seven meetings left.

Lopez has two potential 20-game winners — Juan Pizarro, 17-7, and Gary Peters, 16-7 — among the quartet he plans to use against the Indians.

Pizarro starts tonight's opener, to be followed by Joe Horlen, 10-8, Saturday and Johnny Buzhardt, 10-8, and slick southpaw Peters on Sunday.

Lew Burdette led the Cubs to four hits in a 4-0 win over the Reds Thursday with a four-hit pitching performance.

Rookie Ron Campbell's first major league hit, a single, drove in the Cub's first run in the second inning.

Jim Stewart was walked home in the fourth and Billy Williams' 29th home run provided the third tally.

Today, the Cubs take on the Cardinals in St. Louis, with Dick Ellsworth, 13-14 facing Curt Simmons, 14-9, of the Cards.

Greatest Swimming Team Ever: Teen-Age Americans

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "The greatest swimming team ever."

That was the tribute paid to the teen-age dominant American swimming team by famed Bob Kiphuth today following a record-smashing jamboree in the six day Olympic swimming trials that ended Thursday.

Six world records were battered and one tied in the stiff competition for berths on the U.S. team. This followed a record-busting National AAU championship meet a month ago.

"This team is great because of its strength and depth in almost every event," said Kiphuth, former Olympic coach who has been watching the Olympics since 1920.

On the basis of performances this year, the American men could win eight of the 10 swim events and possibly sweep the boards. The girls, who range in age from 14 to 19, could capture five of the eight and possibly two more.

Here's a rundown on the Olympic events:

MEN

100-meter freestyle — Mike Austin of Rochester, N.Y., has the fastest time in the world this year—53.7—and Gary Ilman, San Jose, Calif., 53.8 and Don Schollander, Lake Oswego, Ore., 53.9. Any of the three could break the world record of 53.6.

400-meter freestyle—Schollander has the fastest time ever, 4:12.7 up for recognition. He's only 18.

1,500-meter freestyle—Roy Saari, 19, El Segundo, Calif., broke the 17 minute barrier to 16:58.7 and thinks he may go 16:50 by Olympic swim time.

200-meter breaststroke — Chet Jastremski, 23, Toledo, Ohio, came out of retirement and lowered the world mark to 2:28.2.

200-meter backstroke—Tom Stock of Aurora, Ill., who holds the world record of 2:10.9 is through but 19-year-old Gary Dilley, Huntington, Ind., (2:12.0) Jed Graef, 21, Verona, N.J., (2:12.8) and 1960 Olympian Bob Bennett, 20, Encino, Calif., (2:12.8) must be given an even chance against the world.

400-meter individual medley—Dick Roth, 16, Atherton, Calif., has the fastest time ever, 4:48.6.

200-meter butterfly — Australia's Kevin Berry has the world record of 2:06.9 but Fred Schmidt, 20, North Brook, Ill., 2:08, and Carl Robie, 19, Drexel Hill, Pa., 2:08.2 are contenders.

The Americans hold the relay world records in the 400-meter medley, and 800-meter freestyle, and could break them all.

WOMEN

100-meter freestyle — Australia's Dawn Fraser, holder of the world record of 58.9 has to be favored but 15-year-old Sharon Stouder, Glendora, Calif., has 1:00.4 and expects to break the minute mark soundly by Olympic time, Oct. 10-24.

400-meter freestyle — Marilyn Ramenofsky, Phoenix, just turned 18, is far away the best with her record-shattering 4:39.5.

100-meter backstroke — Christine Caron of France has a pending world record of 1:08.6. She could be beaten by Donna deVarona, 17, Santa Clara, Calif., holder of the listed world record of 1:08.9, or by Cathy Ferguson, 16, Burbank, Calif., who did 1:08.9 in the trials.

100-meter butterfly — Holland's Ada Kok holds world record of 1:06.1 and best pending mark of 1:05.1. Again fast-rising Miss Stouder, with a 1:05.4 best, is a potent threat.

200-meter breastroke — Russia's 15-year-old Galina Prozumenshchikova is the stickout with a pending world record of 2:45.4. Claudia Kolb, 14, of Santa Clara, might make the finals at best.

400-meter individual medley — Donna deVarona all by herself with a fresh world record of 5:14.9.

Uncle Sam has the talent to sweep the 400 meter freestyle and medley relays in world record time.

The men and women divers wind up the water show with the 3-meter springboard finals today and the platform finals Sunday.

Eighteenth of a Series on Pro Football Prospects

Lion Defense Is Threat to All

BLOOMFIELD HILLS, Mich. (AP) — Alex Karras is back, rougher and tougher than ever, to make Detroit's defensive group a threat to all in the Western Conference of the National Football League.

If George Wilson can find enough offense from the passing of Milt Plum and Earl Morrall and the catching of Gail Cogdill, Terry Barr and Pat Studstill, the Lions could challenge Chicago and Green Bay.

"Barring injuries, we'll be up somewhere close," said Wilson at the Lions' training camp at Cranbrook School.

"Karras is in tip top shape. He is going to make a better football player out of Roger Brown and the others. Alex has a knack of keeping the team loose with his needling."

Karras found his suspension for betting on games "a very long year." He is anxious to make up for lost time.

The loss of Karras, fines to other Lion players and the Detroit front office left the team in a rather demoralized state of shock last year. Then the injury jinx struck.

"At one time we had 26 out of 38 players injured," said Wilson.

Injuries already have struck this season. Dick Night Train Lane, veteran all-league defensive cornerback, underwent surgery in mid-August for removal of cartilage from an injured knee. He is supposed to be back in six weeks.

In his absence, Wilson has been using Bobby Thompson, returning after two years in Canada. Yale Lary, 33, Gary Lowe, 30, and Dick Le Beau, 27, round out the rest of a veteran deep defense.

Karras teams with 6-foot-5, 300-pound Roger Brown at tackle. Darris McCord, coming back after a series of injuries and Sam Williams are the ends with the veteran Bill Quinlan in reserve. The linebacking trio of Ernie Clark, Joe Schmidt and Wayne Walker is intact. Carl Brettschneider is coming back slowly after a leg injury.

The defense is the real solid base of the Lions. The passing game depends on the accuracy of Plum and Morrall and the physical condition of Nick Pietrosante, the veteran fullback.

Cogdill, Barr and Studstill—another man coming back after surgery—are fine receivers. Jim Gibbons is the tight end backed by Hugh McInnis.

Tom Watkins is the top running back with help from Dan Lewis. Larry Ferguson and Nick Ryder back up Pietronsante at fullback, plus Pat Batten, a good-looking rookie from Hardin Simmons.

The Acquisition of tackle J.D. Smith from Philadelphia to replace the late Lucian Reeberg strengthens the offensive line that includes Bob Whitlow at center, Daryl Sanders at the other tackle and John Gordy and John Gonzaga at the guards. Rookie Wally Hilgenberg of Iowa is an extra guard or linebacker if needed.

Next—Cleveland.

Football Briefs

CHICAGO (AP) — Midwest Football Briefs:

NORTHWESTERN — Three juniors participated in a place-kicking drill Thursday in the Wildcat's search for someone to replace Pete Stamison, last year's star booter. Doing the kicking were linebacker Jim Haugsness, quarterback Dave Milam and halfback Dean Dickie.

INDIANA — The squad stuck to fundamentals Thursday in the third day of practice. Coach Phil Dickens was encouraged by the throwing of Dave Mayoras, Richie Coachys and Horace Parker.

ILLINOIS — Halfback Wayne Paulson, who is being groomed for kickoff duties this season, was sidelined Thursday because of injuries.

OHIO STATE — The Buckeyes scrimmaged Thursday in play-polishing practice. Second string quarterback Nick Yonclas bruised his leg and will be out for a few days.

MICHIGAN — The Wolverines worked to sharpen up their defense in practice Thursday. Coach Bump Elliot also shifted Arnie Yimkus from right to defensive left tackle.

MICHIGAN STATE — Coach Duffy Daugherty conducted a limited scrimmage in practice Thursday after work on conditioning earlier in the week.

PURDUE — A 91-degree temperature stifled a limited scrimmage Thursday and Coach Jack Mollenkoptf sent five players in early.

NOTRE DAME — Linebackers got a stiff workout under contact condition in Thursday's practice. In the No. 1 spots were Jim Carroll, team captain and guard, Pete Duranko and Jim Lynch.

MINNESOTA — Left halfback Bill Crockett, in action after a year of ineligibility, showed flashes of his sophomore form in a full-scale scrimmage Thursday.

IOWA — The Hawkeyes held a conditioning drill Thursday after the heat forced Coach Jerry Burns to cancel the planned contact session.

WISCONSIN — The Badgers went through controlled scrimmage Thursday in preparation for full-scale contact Saturday.

Diane Harvey Is Women's Winner

Diane Harvey took the women's singles crown in The Dixon Evening Telegraph Tennis Tournament.

Miss Harvey came through with an upset in the finals against number one seeded Jackie Litts. The score was 6-2, 6-1.

In the semifinals Miss Litts defeated Linda Swim, 6-1, 7-5, while in an other bracket, Miss Harvey downed Mary Gower, 6-4, 6-3.

First round play saw Miss Harvey, Miss Litts and Miss Gower receiving byes. Miss Swim defeated Sandy Huggins, 6-2, 6-2.

In doubles Emma Hubbs and Linda Swim defeated Mary Gower and Diane Harvey, 13-11, 7-5 in the finals competition.

Don Larsen Hurls Shutout As Colts Whip Phils, 6-0

By The Associated Press

000 000 000—0

Don Larsen hasn't seen a line score like that in five years.

The 35-year-old Houston right-hander had his memory refreshed Thursday night as he strung out the zeroes on the Connie Mack Stadium scoreboard, checking the National League-leading Philadelphia Phillies 6-0 on four hits for his first shutout since May 30, 1959.

Larsen, who pitched a perfect game for the New York Yankees in the 1956 World Series, had not pitched a shutout in 35 starts since leaving the Yankees five years ago and beginning a short tour of the majors that took him to Kansas City, Chicago and San Francisco.

Acquired by the Colts early in the season, Larsen has been used primarily in relief but has made five starts in the last five weeks, breaking even in four decisions while putting together an eye-opening 1.58 earned run average.

Despite the loss, the Phillies maintained their 5½-game bulge in the pennant race with 30 games to go as Lew Burdette of the Chicago Cubs shut out second-place Cincinnati 3-0 on four hits.

San Francisco's Gaylord Perry pitched a five-hitter in the Giants' 3-1 victory over the New York Mets and Wade Blasingame allowed only seven hits as Milwaukee belted St. Louis 7-0. Pittsburgh and the Los Angeles Dodgers were not scheduled.

Mike White slammed two doubles and a pair of singles for the Colts, who gave Larsen more than enough working room with a five-run sixth inning rally highlighted by Carroll Hardy's two-run homer.

Walt Bond's single, a double by Bob Aspromonte and Hardy's homer off Dennis Bennett produced the first three runs before singles by Jerry Grote, Eddie Kasko and Bob Lillis plus White's double wrapped up the uprising.

Burdette, now 10-7, got the only run he needed in the second inning when Len Gabrielson drew a walk off John Tsitouris, stole second and scored on Ron Campbell's first major league hit. A walk and Billy Williams' homer in the fourth finished the scoring.

Billy McCool, the Reds' rookie reliever, turned in a sharp performance over the final three innings, striking out seven of nine men.

Perry, bringing his record to 9-9, drove in two of the Giants' runs and had a shutout until the ninth when Joe Christopher's triple and a sacrifice fly by George Altman produced the Mets' run.

The Giants scored two runs in the fourth on consecutive doubles by Duke Snider and Tom Haller and Perry's single. In the sixth, Haller beat out a bunt, moved to third on Jim Davenport's double and scored on Perry's sacrifice fly.

Blasingame, now 4-1, held a 1-0 lead on Hank Aaron's 24th homer before starting a six-run seventh inning outburst by drawing a walk.

Successive singles by Rico Carty, Lee Maye, Aaron and Ed Mathews produced three runs. Joe Torre then tripled and Ed Bailey drove in the final run with a sacrifice fly.

FREEDOM IS HIS FLIGHT PLAN

Barry's 'Mun'

(In this fifth installment of Stephen Shadegg's BARRY GOLDWATER: FREEDOM IS HIS FLIGHT PLAN, we encounter the beloved Josephine "Mun" Goldwater—Barry's mother. We see the young Josephine Williams . . . coming West on the train for her health . . . becoming a special duty nurse in Phoenix . . . meeting and marrying Barry's father Baron, Phoenix's most eligible bachelor . . . raising Barry and his brother . . . We see the reasons why Barry says that it was "Mun" who instilled in him his fierce love of country.)

By STEPHEN SHADEGG

The railroad coach was crowded, dirty, hot, and the young girl, her thin body crumpled on the seat, appeared oblivious to her surroundings. She had boarded the train unaccompanied.

At the turn of the century, hapless patients suspected of lung trouble were invariably advised to go West for the cure. But if Josephine Williams, the girl on the day coach, ever had any intention of coming West to die, she never showed it.

The beloved and pampered mother of Arizona's Senator Barry Goldwater, "Mun" as she is affectionately called, is now past 80 and still active. Her elder son credits her with instilling in him the fierce love of country which has contributed to his becoming a symbol of leadership in the perilous 1960's.

Josephine was born in Illinois, reared in Nebraska, and was no wide-eyed tenderfoot. Her destination, Phoenix, Arizona, was a capital city with dusty streets and open ditches carrying water to trees planted by early pioneers. On East Washington Street, the dry goods store of M. Goldwater and Bros. was the finest in the territory.

In this health center nurses were at a premium; but how her acceptance of a position in a local hospital jibed with the supposition she had tuberculosis, Jo never explained. But within three months she was a special duty nurse.

Baron Goldwater was the city's most eligible bachelor, and it was over the yard goods counter that he and Mun got acquainted. "I didn't buy what he tried to sell me," she says, "but he was nice to talk to, although a little fresh and conceited."

Josephine Williams was 29 and Baron Goldwater 41 when he proposed. Their courtship had kept the town talking for more than a year. "I wasn't the prettiest girl in town by a long shot, or the youngest or wealthiest; in fact, I think Baron regarded me as a hard case because I didn't faint at his flattery," she says.

Baron and Jo went to New York for a combined honeymoon and buying trip. They returned to Phoenix and rented a comfortable, two-story brick home where Bob and Barry were born—Barry on New Year's Day, 1909, and Bob 15 months later.

Most of his life in Arizona Baron had been called "Barry." Now, with a boy baby christened with a shortened and less formal version of his father's name, some difficulty developed in keeping the two identities straight.

"Mun never had any trouble," Barry says. "She never spoke to Dad in the same tone of voice she reserved for us youngsters. But when I was growing up I fought the idea of being called 'Little Barry.' "

Barry remembers his father as the best-dressed man he's ever known. "He never learned to drive a car and never performed any physical labor if he could hire someone to do the work for him.

"It was Mun who took us camping. It was Mun who taught us to shoot, who led us into unexplored areas of northern Arizona and instilled in us a curiosity about everything that went on in nature," he says.

Baron apparently was an indulgent father, always coming home from New York buying trips with new games and toys, but Barry now says somewhat wistfully: "I never really knew my father. I respected him. I felt that he loved us all very dearly, but his world was the store, club and his adult companions. With Mun it was different. She shared every youthful escapade."

Each summer Mun packed her brood and two or three neighbor kids into a big Apperson touring car loaded with camping equipment and headed for the Southern California beach. In early years the trip took as long as five days, and when a wooden plank road was finally completed from Yuma to Brawley, the travelers cut off a full day and rejoiced at the convenience of "modern living."

It was Barry who bestowed on her the nickname "Mun," which she prefers to Jo or Josephine. "We had a housekeeper named Angie, and Baron frequently called me Mumsie. Little Barry, confused by the two principal women in his life, settled the matter by combining Mumsie and Angie into 'Mun.' "

Josephine Goldwater is not the kind of woman who surrenders her entire life to her children. She took up golf and became first women's champion of Phoenix, then state champion. She rode horseback and encouraged the youngsters to ride.

She was mistress of one of the most elaborate domestic establishments in the territory but still found time to interest Barry in reading Gibbons' "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire" before he was eight years old. But she could never make a serious student of him.

Cabbie Didn't Want Spuds; Blows Whistle

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A cab driver who didn't want to be paid in potatoes blew the whistle on Edward Johnson, 42, Thursday night.

Johnson hopped into the cab at the railroad station, police said, and asked to be taken to Long Wharf.

Johnson told the driver to stop in front of a produce market and to turn out his lights. Then he hopped out and started hauling sacks of potatoes from a truck and dumping them in the cab, police said.

When the cabbie asked what was going on, Johnson explained he had no money and hoped to raise the fare by selling the spuds.

As Johnson returned to his labors, the cab driver put in a call to his dispatcher. Police said Johnson was still hard at work when they arrived.

Johnson was charged with theft, evading payment of a fare, and intoxication.

Johnson's Views-5

POLL TAX

In a Senate speech, March 9, 1949, discussing a civil rights bill proposed by President Truman, Sen. Johnson said:

"I do not believe in the poll tax as a prerequisite for voting. I have advocated, and I do advocate, the repeal of the constitutional provision of Texas which makes the payment of a poll tax necessary before a citizen can vote.

"The framers of the Constitution were plain, specific and unambiguous in providing that each state should have the right to prescribe the qualifications of its electors. For that reason, and for that reason alone, I believe that the proposed antipoll tax measure is wholly unconstitutional and violates the rights of the states guaranteed by Section 2 of Article I of the Constitution."

Fifteen years later, as President, he said, in a Jan. 23, 1964, message on final ratification of a constitutional amendment abolishing the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting:

"The abolishment of the poll tax as a condition to voting in federal elections is the forward step of a modern society. It is a verification of people's rights which are rooted so deeply in the mainstream of this nation's history. As majority leader of the Senate, I personally urged the banishment of bars to voting. This triumph, now, of liberty over restriction is a grateful and proud moment for me."

POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY

In an article in the winter, 1958, issue of the Texas Quarterly, Johnson outlined his political philosophy this way:

"I am a free man, an American, a U.S. senator, and a Democrat, in that order.

"I am also a liberal, a conservative, a Texan, a taxpayer, a rancher, a consumer, a parent, a voter, and not as young as I used to be nor as old as I expect to be—and I am all these things in no fixed order.

"I am unaware of any descriptive word in the second paragraph which qualifies, modifies, amends, or is related by hyphenation to the terms listed in the first paragraph. In consequence, I am not able — nor even the least interested in trying—to define my political philosophy by the choice of a one-word or two-word label. This may be against the tide, but, if so, the choice is deliberate.

"This leads to a listing of the tenets of my own beliefs, the specific tenets of my own philosophy. I would set them down this way:

"First, I believe every American has something to say and, under our system, a right to an audience.

"Second, I believe there is always a national answer to each national problem, and, believing this, I do not believe there are necessarily two sides to every question.

"Third, I regard achievement of the full potential of our resources — physical, human and otherwise — to be the highest purpose of governmental policies next to the protection of those rights we regard as inalienable.

"Fourth, I regard waste as the continuing enemy of our society and the prevention of waste — waste of resources, waste of lives, or waste of opportunity—to be the most dynamic of the responsibilities of our government."

SOUTH VIET NAM

In a news conference, Feb. 1, 1964, asked about Gen. de Gaulle's proposal to neutralize Indochina, Johnson said:

"If we could have a neutralization of both North Viet Nam and South Viet Nam, I am sure that would be considered sympathetically. But I see no indication of that at the moment."

In a speech Feb. 21, 1964, at the University of California at Los Angeles, Johnson said:

"The contest in which South Viet Nam is now engaged in first and foremost is a contest for themselves. But those engaged in external direction and supply would do well to remember that this type of aggression is a deeply dangerous game."

In a June 3, 1964, news conference, he said:

"It may be helpful to outline four basic themes that govern our policy in South Asia.

"First, America keeps her word.

"Second, the issue is the future of Southeast Asia as a whole.

"Third, our purpose is peace.

"Fourth, this is not just a jungle war, but a struggle for freedom on every front of human activity."

In a news conference July 24, 1964, Johnson was asked about proposals for a 14-nation conference on Southeast Asia. He said:

"But we do not believe in a conference called to ratify terror, so our policy is unchanged. For 10 years, and in three different administrations, the United States has been committed to the freedom and the independence of South Viet Nam in helping others to help themselves.

"In those 10 years we have taken whatever actions were necessary, spending men and supplies for different specific purposes at different times. We shall stick to that policy and we shall continue our effort to make it even more effective."

CARS IN EAST GERMANY

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany reckons to have a million automobiles by 1970, a private Western intelligence agency reported.

Information Bureau West was quoting a report of the Transport Ministry. The ministry experts also estimated that the number would double by 1980.

A million autos would be one for every 17 inhabitants compared with one for every 8 inhabitants of West Germany now.

Low production and sky-high prices make autos difficult to buy in East Germany, which has some of the emptiest roads in Europe.

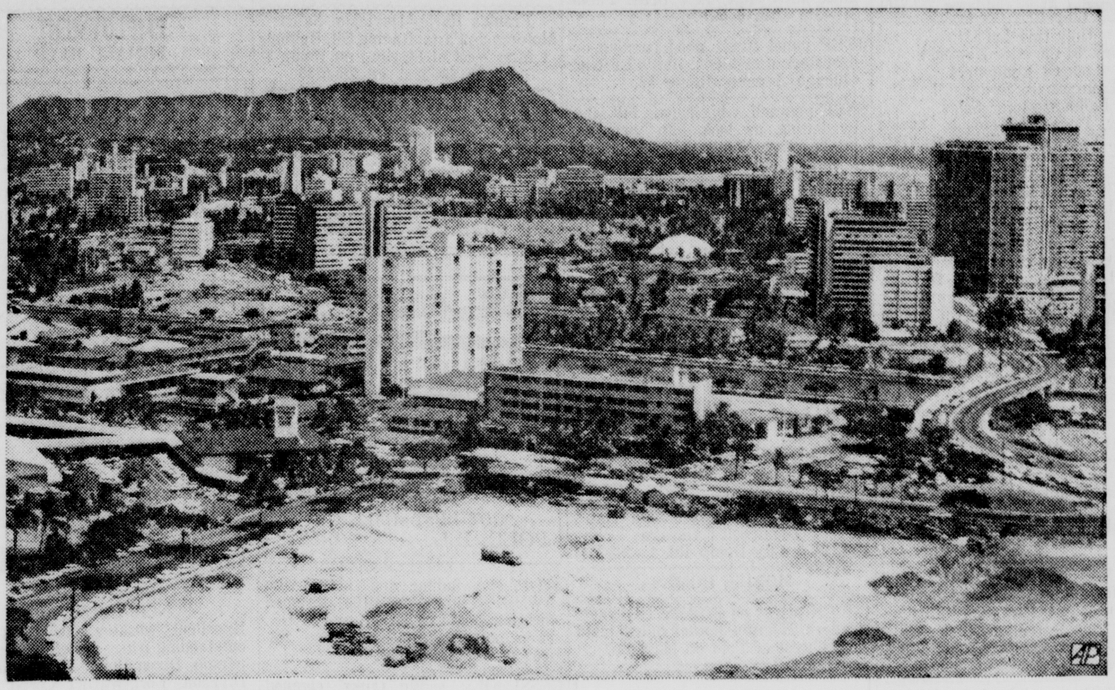
Associated Press News in Pictures

A NEW LAND — Christopher Manners, 2, and his sister, Carolyn, 3, are all eyes as they view New York City upon arrival from Wales. They'll live in Washington, D. C.



MODERNITY MOVES IN — Diamond Head, a landmark on Honolulu's coast, forms backdrop for new construction in the Waikiki area. Hawaii, now a state for five years, is building to keep pace with the current state of development and for the future.

SPEED ON SEA — Sunlight, spinnakers and white spray are all in evidence as the British yachts Sovereign, left, and Kurrewa V race in deep water off Newport, R. I.

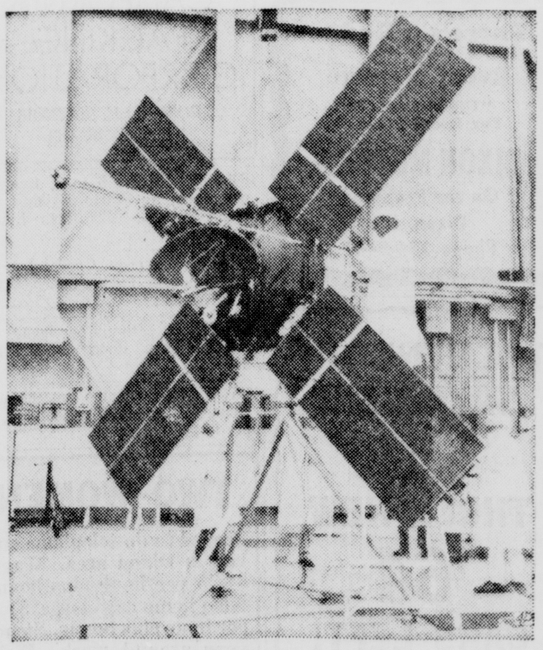
TO NEW POST — Pier Spinelli of Italy has been named U.N. mediator in Cyprus because of the sudden illness of Sakari Tuomioja. He is director of the U.N. European Office.

THE WATER ROUTE — Two hydrofoil boats, part of New York's newest transportation system, speed up the East River past midtown Manhattan skyline to the World's Fair site on Long Island. The craft can carry 22 passengers and travel at 40 miles an hour.

BAR STYMIE — This frog has the ability to change color shades but not enough magic to get through that fence. Animal is a pet of Steve Forrest, 14, of Miami, Fla.

PAST UPDATED — Diane Baker models new hat based on a 19th century London policeman's helmet. The mustard colored felt with visor brim has contrasting chain.

BIG SHOT — Tony Watson is the gunner behind a giant slingshot in his Savannah, Ga., neighborhood. Tree limbs look strong enough to propel a shot to the next county.



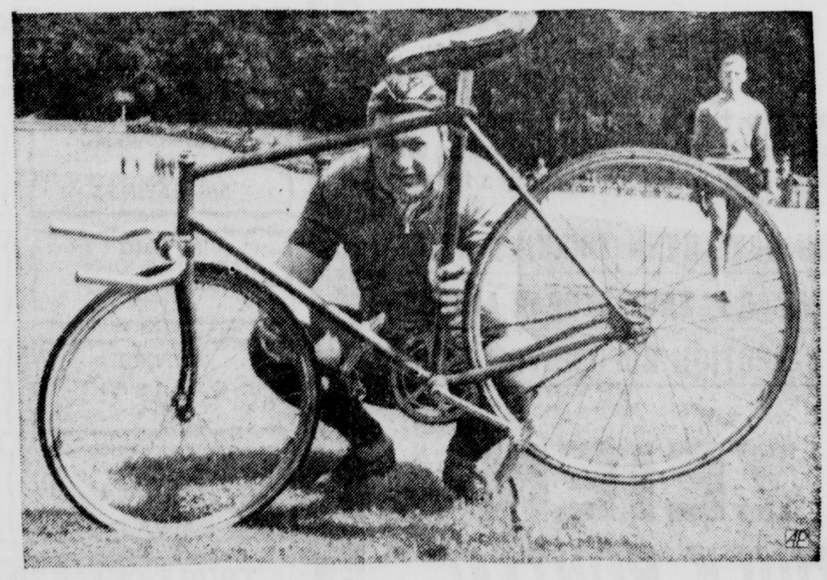
PLANET PROBER — Technicians work on portion of Mariner Mars 64 space vehicle at Pasadena. Craft will be launched as first step by U.S. in exploration of Mars.

FUN AT THE FAIR — Luci Baines Johnson hugs an immense shaggy white dog given to her by Wisconsin State Fair officials in Milwaukee. The seventeen-year-old daughter of the President enjoyed rides in the amusement area and visited a number of exhibits.

ROLLING BY — Ben Park is a newsboy who makes his Indianapolis neighborhood take notice as he makes his deliveries on a unicycle. He mastered the conveyance in a short time.

RESCUE TRAINING — Men of the Royal Canadian Air Force practice picking up a "survivor" from water with a new helicopter, the CH-113 Voyageur, at Trenton, Ontario. The tandem-rotor craft can also be used in search and rescue operations over land.

ZOO DELIGHT — A new star attraction at the Zoological Garden in Frankfurt is this tiny monkey who makes up for what it lacks in size with quite a facial adornment.



A CYCLE CHANGE — French cyclist Michel Rousseau displays his "bicyle of the future" at Paris meet. It has a smaller front wheel with turned-out handle-bars just over it. He says changes permit the rider to crouch in a "more aerodynamic position."

Old Flying Machines Exhibit

OTTUMWA, Iowa (AP) — Old flying machines, many of them lacking radio equipment, were converging today on the Ottumwa Municipal Airport for the annual convention of the National Antique Airplane Association.

Robert Taylor, 40, of Ottumwa, founder and president of the association, said hundreds of antique planes will arrive for the convention and carry spectators back to pre-World War II days.

Last year's display of how planes looked like 30 years ago—and still do—attracted 35,000 spectators and nearly 200 craft.

Gracie Allen's Will Is Filed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comedienne Gracie Allen's will has been filed for probate. It left her estate to her husband George Burns and their two adopted children.

The will, filed Thursday in Superior Court, left Burns — her partner in one of the most celebrated comedy teams in show business history — all personal effects and her interest in their Beverly Hills home.

The remainder was left in trust for the two children, Sandra Joan Luckman and Ronald Burns, both of Beverly Hills, with Burns as trustee.

The petition made no estimate of the estate, except that it exceeds $50,000.

Miss Allen died Aug. 27 of a heart attack. The petition gave her age as 62.

Combination of Styles

CLEWISTON, Fla. (AP)—There are plenty of modern house trailers in Florida but not many sport 17th Century furniture.

Hers apparently does, says Miss Anna Colborne, who retired from the Detroit Telephone Co. and came to Clewiston to grow orchids.

She installed in her trailer a table and four chairs handed down in her family. Then one day a vacationist stopped to admire her orchids and observed "orchids are out of my line —I'm an antique appraiser."

"He inspected the table and chairs thoroughly and said they were of English make of the 17th Century," Miss Colborne said. "He thought they were of the style known as Plymouth from the craftsmen building furniture at Plymouth, England at that time.

She said the chairs were appraised at $1,000 each, and the table at more.

Miss Colborne said she had no idea the furniture dated further back than the days of her grandmother.

BACK TO AFRICA

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Sue Spencer plans to return this summer to Africa where her daughter, Susie, has newly been assigned as a Peace Corps volunteer.

"She'll be the only girl in the Peace Corps whose mother follows her around and looks after her," Mrs. Spencer joked.

Mrs. Spencer recently sold movie rights for $25,000 to a books she wrote, "African Creeks I Have Been Up." It was based on letters to her children while she was in Africa with her husband, a mining engineer.

WORLD NEWS

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP) — Scotland opens today one of the world's largest single-span suspension bridges, a 1½-mile, four-lane highway across the Firth of Forth.

The bridge, first planned 40 years ago, took six years to complete and cost $56 million. It will provide a direct road link between Edinburgh and Fife, served since 1890 by a rail bridge.

Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip, her husband, were to ride the first official car across the span.

TOKYO (AP) — The United States will pay 75 per cent of a $2,874 damage payment to the family of a Japanese woman killed by a U.S. Marine. Japan will pay the other 25 per cent, according to an agreement reached today.

Pfc. Manuel A. Covarrubias of Wapato, Wash., reportedly shot and killed Miss Yuki Katsumata, 45, last July 20 at the U.S. Air Force camp in Higashi Fuji, 100 miles southwest of Tokyo. He was on duty as a guard and Miss Katsumata was said to have ignored his warnings.

MANILA (AP) — The Public Service Commission has granted permission to the Philippine Long Distance Telephone Co. to proceed with the laying of a submarine cable between Guam and the Philippines.

The commission earlier had suspended authorization because of opposition by Globe Wireless, an affiliate of International Telephone and Telegraph Co.

TROMSOE, Norway (AP) — A Norwegian firm that already has built one Soviet hydroelectric power plant on the border between the two nations is expected to build another, a newspaper said today.

The firm, Norelektro A-S, will receive a new contract to build a plant on the Upper Pasvik River, said the newspaper Nordlys.

Necessary To Continue Draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said today it was "unfortunate" that young Americans must face a compulsory military obligation but that it was necessary to continue the draft "at present."

Republican nominee Barry Goldwater opened his presidential campaign in Prescott, Ariz., Thursday with a call to "end the draft altogether, and as soon as possible."

The Defense Department is currently studying the draft system to see if manpower requirements can be met by volunteers.

Beatles Take Indiana Fair By Storm

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indiana State Fairgrounds seemed remarkably quiet today after the Beatles' hard day's night.

The brush-topped bundles from Britain scored their usual success, measured in excess of $100,000 in gate receipts, Thursday night at the Indiana State Fair. Before two audiences of nearly 33,000 in the fairgrounds Coliseum and Grandstand, the internationally pursued rock 'n roll quartet belted out their latest hits and wildeyed teen-aged girls responded with shrieks of ecstacy.

One girl grabbed a deputy sheriff's cap, insisting hysterically that he deliver her "I Love," badge to John Lemon, the married Beatle.

A far more subdued member of the wild set explained that "it's their beat" that causes these incredible demonstrations.

"It's not the music, just the beat," she said. "It's wild and easy to dance to. Everybody's crazy about it."

Ringo Starr, a drummer, was allowed to sing one number at each performance, and this brought the most ear-shattering of the squeals.

Although crowds gathered at entrances and around the Beatle limousine, there was no mobbing. Police officials credited youngsters with good behavior.

The Beatles will appear at Chicago's International Amphitheatre Saturday night.

TINY ISLETS

Saint Paul's Rocks are a group of tiny islets rising out of the Atlantic Ocean 540 miles from South America and one degree north of the equator, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Today in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nicholas deB. Katzenbach was running the Justice Department today following Robert F. Kennedy's resignation as attorney general.

Katzenbach, 42, a former University of Chicago law professor who has been deputy attorney general, became the department's top-ranking officer Thursday when Kennedy quit to run for the U.S. Senate from New York.

It is believed unlikely that President Johnson will fill the attorney general's spot on a permanent basis until after the Nov. 3 presidential election.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has filed a claim in U.S. Tax Court for another $52,000 in back income taxes from Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa.

The Internal Revenue Service says in the claim that among other items Hoffa failed to list more than $60,000 in legal fees paid by his Detroit Local 299.

Hoffa's attorneys are disputing all claimed items — covering 1958 and 1960 — and have asked that the trial be held in Detroit.

In another case, still pending, the government is seeking $20,295 it claims Hoffa owes from his 1959 income, which included $22,930 in legal fees.

In both cases, Hoffa's attorneys contend that the legal fees were necessary to Hoffa's business as Teamsters president.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed a bill Thursday government officials hope will help end the nation's coin shortage.

It keeps the date "1964" on all coins made by the mint until the shortage ends in order to make them less attractive to hoarders.

Testimony before congressional committees by government officials showed hoarding by speculatively inclined coin dealers and collectors had contributed to the shortage.

The secretary of the Treasury will determine when the coin shortage is over.

Merry Dozen Club Meets

STEWARD — Mrs. Eugene Lutz and Mrs. Ronald Espe of Steward attended the August meeting of the Merry Dozen Club at the home of Mrs. Robert Oftedal in Shabbona.

Honors at 500 went to Mrs. Dale Knutson and Mrs. Roger Colby.

Others present were Shirley Long, Mrs. David George, Mrs. William Hinkston, Mrs. Lloyd Peterson, Mrs. Dennis Fleming, and Mrs. Richard Walter.

Mrs. David George will be the hostess in September.

People In the News

NEW YORK (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her staff have taken over a four-room office suite at 400 Park Ave. to handle more than one million letters she has received since the death of her husband.

The office has been leased by the General Services Administration, which was directed by Congress three weeks after the President's assassination "to provide and maintain suitable space for the purpose" of taking care of letters sent to Mrs. Kennedy.

The President's widow and two children, Caroline and John Jr., are moving soon into a Manhattan apartment.

PADUA, Italy (AP) — Britain's Princess Margaret has received an apology from the Franciscan Friars who guard the shrine of St. Anthony in Padua.

She was barred from entering the 700-year-old church last Saturday and was told she had to put on a jacket to cover her arms. The sister of Queen Elizabeth slipped into a bolero and walked into the church with her husband. Women must keep their arms covered in Italian churches.

"We would not like anybody to think," a statement by the Friars said, "that a Roman Catholic religious order has intentionally adopted a negative attitude toward the illustrious guests, especially in the time of the great Ecumenical Council."

NEW YORK (AP) — Clare Boothe Luce, a Republican noted for being outspoken, had a prediction about Robert F. Kennedy, a Democrat, if he wins the New York state race against the incumbent Republican, Kenneth B. Keating.

The former congresswoman, playwright and ambassador to Italy was asked Thursday night o a television program about Kennedy's prospects of following his late brother, John F. Kennedy, to the White House some day.

"My reaction is that if he wins this race here in New York, he's well on the way to the White House," she replied.

It is estimated that one-fifth of the people of the United States move from one place to another in a year's time.
